AS MEN change, their monuments change. A pile of drying skulls, five times the height of a man, seemed glorious to one kind of ruler. Then came the great pyramid, with the little body of some pharaoh lying under it. Then the man on horseback, with letters telling how he had ridden over his enemies. There was the castle on the hill, and the great cathedral monument to religion's power.

Now comes the financial monument, celebrating power of capital, which is human labor frozen into money, controlling millions of dollars ready to be released for any kind of work.

YESTERDAY in Chicago S. W. Straus dedicated to the use of constructive finance a building thirty-two stories high, costing $18,000,000, looking out across Lake Michigan, and creating a new financial centre on Michigan avenue.

WITH HIS "Straus plan," S. W. Straus has done more building, in the big cities of the United States, than any other individual in America. More than any other he has contributed to the solution of a great problem that followed the war—the shortage of dwellings.

Dollars gathered together and wisely used together have power, as great as that of the waters gathered together above Niagara's cliff.

The Straus plan gathers scattered dollars, and combines them for safe investment in big building units. Under this plan, safe and profitable investments are found for hundreds of millions and employment for tens of thousands of mechanics.

S. W. Straus is able truthfully to boast of the fact that in more than forty years of continuous business no investor has ever lost a dollar through his firm.

He deserves congratulations on his new and gigantic monument to conservative finance.

CLERGYMEN in Chicago deplore the "grand funeral" given to Dion O'Bannion, a professional murderer. They say the ten thousand dollar coffin and expensive flowers set a bad example. "What will the youths of our cities think about it?" asks the Reverend Dr. McCartney.

ANOTHER interesting question is this: What will civilized human beings in the future think about the honor we pay to the corpse of Napoleon, lying under the magnificent gilt dome of the Invalides.

There was a real, wholesale killer, a champion "gun man." When poor devil soldiers of another gunman were fleeing across the ice on a frozen lake, he said to the gunners: "Lower your aim and break the ice." The men were drowned. O'Bannion would never have thought of that.

JOHN J. CHAPMAN, of New York, protests to William Lawrence, Episcopal Bishop of Massachusetts, because a Roman Catholic, James Byrne, has been elected a "fellow" of Harvard College. Mr. Chapman says the Roman Catholics are trying to "control American education."

MR. CHAPMAN knows the history of ancient universities. He knows that in France, Spain, Italy, England and elsewhere they were founded directly by the Roman Catholic Church.

If universities in Paris, at Oxford, and elsewhere, would survive the fact that they were direct creations of the Roman Catholic Church, it is probable that Harvard will be able to survive the election of one Roman Catholic "fellow."

This is the first time, by the way, that a Roman Catholic has ever been elected one of the seven "fellows" that are supposed to rule Harvard.

Call at City Hall, Then Go to Boston Common, Bearing Three Banners

Boston's "Army of the Unemployed," 150 in number, made good their threat of yesterday to return to City Hall, and stormed the employment bureau in the basement today.

Later they paraded through the streets to the Parkman Bandstand, after the usual formalities were waived by Mayor Curley, Chairman Noyes of the Street Commission and and Police Commissioner Wilson.

Led by John Machiner of No. 41 Milton avenue, Dorchester, the men carried three banners, borne by ex-service men, which read:

"We unemployed want work, not charity"; "Eleven thousand ex-service men in our ranks," and "Damn these employment bureaus which charge fees."

A threat of a city-wide crime wave in Boston unless relief is afforded to the "great army of the unemployed" was made by Machiner.

Machiner left after being told the council is powerless to act. He fired a parting shot in the form of a threat to return "80,000 strong and that will your answer be then?"

Machiner told a story of no fuel in the homes of many of those, "one hundred and twenty-five men seated in the council gallery." He told how they had roamed the streets looking for work, of his visit to the State House and of being tossed about by State officials, finally landing at City Hall.

Mayor Curley when asked what measures could be taken to relieve the unemployment situation in Boston said he had tried unsuccessfully to get the State permit the extension of the Dorchester tunnel on a day labor basis.

COOLIDGE REFUSES TO TAKE VACATION

Washington, Nov. 18.—President Coolidge has waved aside suggestions of some friends that he take a vacation, now that the campaign is over, assuring them, it is understood, that not only he in the best of health but feels that he will keep in better condition by sticking to work.

The President's decision is understood to have the indorsement of his physician, Dr. James F. Coupal. Close friends explain that Mr. Coolidge feels more at ease when working and also regards it as his duty to remain here.

MARYLAND G. O. P. HEAD MURDERED IN STREET

Leonardtown, Maryland, Nov. 18.—A murder which shocked the community and may become a State-wide sensation, was uncovered here today with the finding of the body of Joseph Henry Ching, lawyer and politician, in front of St. Aloysius Church, near his home. His skull had been crushed. Ching was chairman of the Republican State Committee.

ROLPHS SPEED HERE TO SEE SICK SON

The steamship President Van Buren, with James M. Rolph, III., aboard, seriously ill, had not arrived in Boston today, due to delays suffered through the rough weather of the past few days.

Mayor Rolph and Mrs. Rolph were expected to arrive here tonight on a special train, that has held the right of way practically across the continent. The Mayor and his wife passed through Chicago today and received cheering news via wireless regarding their son's condition.

An ambulance and hospital surgeons will meet young Rolph at the Army Base, if authorities do not insist that he must remain at the quarantine station. Reservations have been made for him at the new Thorndike Memorial Hospital.

WOMAN'S NAME CLEW IN DEATH OF CHINAMAN

The police investigating the murder of Woon Dong Gin in his laundry at No. 808 Tremont street, Sunday night, are following three lines. They are trying to find, with a view to questioning her, a woman whose name with other notes, was on scraps of wrapping paper found in the rifled cash register.

They also hope to establish the identity of the two Chinamen seen leaving the place late Sunday night.

And they are hopeful also of tracing the telephone message to the Roxbury Crossing station, far from the scene of the murder, which notified the police that by going to the laundry they would find that a crime had been committed.

DIGGING FOR 2ND BODY IN MAINE

Mrs. Cote, Accused in Killing of Husband, Dances Behind Bars

Portland, Me., Nov. 18.—While Mrs. Lottie Sanborn Cote, frail little mother of four children, accused of complicity in the murder of her second husband, Alphonse Cote, dances and sings in the County Jail, authorities are today busy at her farm digging for the body of her first husband, William Sanborn, who disappeared in 1910.

When Sanborn slipped out of the picture fourteen years ago Mrs. Cote made it known that he had forged her name to several notes and then ran away when they became due.

This was what she told the neighbors, but she wrote to his brother, Percival B. Sanborn, a florist in Beverly, Mass., that he was serving a twenty-five-year term in the Tennessee State prison.

NOT IN TENNESSEE

At that time the brother tried to have an investigation made into the whole affair. He waited fourteen years to have that hope realized.

Now one of the important pieces of evidence in the hands of the officials is the letter which Mrs. Cote wrote to him in 1910.

From Nashville today came word that Sanborn was not a prisoner in the penitentiary there.

Through her counsel, Harry Nixon, Mrs. Cote has republished her confession that she plotted the death of her second husband, who was shot down and his body buried on the farm by Charles H. Fielding, former special officer of Portland.

NAGGED HIM TO KILL COTE.

Fielding has confessed his part in the crime, asserting that he had for many years been intimate with Mrs. Cote and that he killed Cote only after she had nagged him into doing so.

Meanwhile Mrs. Cote is "the life of the party" among female prisoners at the jail where she is held awaiting action of the Grand Jury. She dances with other women prisoners, she sings and skips about the corridors apparently with not a serious thought in the world.

Fielding declared in fragments of his confession just made public that

TROOPERS AT REVERE POLLS

State Guards Called Out to Watch for Frauds in the Primary Contests

Armed State Constabulary guarded the polling booths in Revere today during the primary election.

The troopers were on hand by order of Governor Cox to prevent irregularities in voting, which have been charged in previous elections.

The polls opened at noon and will close tonight at 9 o'clock.

Candidates were being chosen in Revere for mayor, city treasurer, tax collector, four councilmen-at-large and councilmen from each of the five wards, for terms of two years each, in addition to two members of the board of assessors for four-year terms and two members of the school committee.

DEMOCRATS FALL OFF.

As the Democratic ticket is practically devoid of names, the winners on the Republican slate are certain of election December 3, unless there is some unforeseen occurrence.

The chief interest centred in the mayoralty contest, in which Mayor Thomas A. Noone and Dr. John E. Walsh are the Republican candidates. Mayor Noone is a two-to-one favorite and is expected to carry the city by 1,500.

Ernest Adler is unopposed for renomination for city collector, but there is a battle for the office of city treasurer, made vacant by the resignation of O. Arthur Tapley. With one to nominate, the candidates on the Republican ticket are William Martin Keevey, Clifton H. Mackay and James F. Thompson, the latter retiring councilman in Ward 1 Beachmont. Keevey is also a candidate for the Democratic nomination.

LANE BUSY IN WARD 5.

There are twelve candidates for the four places to be filled for councilmen-at-large, and fights in every ward for councilmen.

Frederick C. Lane of the Boston American made his initial bid for public office by entering the Ward 5 council fight, in which there are six candidates.

There are also contests for the nominations of assessors.

In Chelsea for the first time in the history of the city, a woman seeks nomination to the board of aldermen. She is Miss Cecile Cohen of No. 108 Franklin avenue, who is a graduate of Radcliffe and Boston University.

The candidates for Mayor for a term of one year were being selected, Mayor Lawrence F. Quigley, who seeks re-election and his opponent, former Alderman Joseph A. Tyrrell, being the contestants.

A feature of the Chelsea primaries was a baby checking privilege extended to mothers by the Women's Republican Club of Ward 8 at their headquarters on Oak street.

There are eight candidates for aldermen-at-large, and contests for aldermen in all the wards except Ward 1.

FRENCH LINER ON FIRE AT DOCKS IN HAVRE

Havre, France, Nov. 18.—Fire broke out today in the French line steamer Teane, which is at the Havre docks with a cargo of grain, barley and cotton, from Houston and Galveston. The blaze, believed due to spontaneous combustion, is raging in three holds and the entire fire department of the city is fighting the flames.

MT. IDA SCHOOL GIRLS GIVEN A FIRE SCARE

Classes were suspended and excitement reigned among 500 girl students, while firemen were extinguishing a blaze on the roof of the Mt. Ida School, No. 115 Bellevue street, Newton, today.

The blaze started from chimney sparks, a passerby turning in an alarm, and the girl students were not aware of what had happened until the firemen arrived.

The teachers suspended classes during the progress of the fire and succeeded in calming the girls, the majority of whom were kept inside.

Two Leap From Amherst Building

Amherst, Nov. 18.—Two of the twelve students living in the Alpha Theta Phi annex at Amherst College were forced to jump from windows when fire destroyed the building today. It is thought the started from a fireplace. The loss is estimated at $10,000.

Aged Man Dragged Out Window at Athol Fire

Athol, Nov. 18.—Seven residents of the Leary house here were driven in their night clothes into the zero weather when the building was virtually destroyed by fire.

The first to awaken was Edward Alden, eighty-two years old who aroused his niece, Mrs. F. J. Leary, and her husband. While Mrs. Leary carried her two children to safety, her husband aroused Edward Taft and Charles Taft, the latter seventy-eight years old.

The elder Taft, unable to find his way through the hallway because of the smoke, was lifted through a window.

The American steamship A. L. Kent, from Pacific Coast ports, reached Boston today, bringing the crew of four men from the schooner Rebecca G. Whilden, which was abandoned with decks awash about five miles southeast of Pollock Rip Lightship.

It was just about dusk yesterday when Captain F. W. Keen of the Kent sighted the schooner with four men standing on the deckhouse waving planks. Despite the sixty-mile wind and the shoals with which the waters there abound, he managed to bring his boat close to the schooner. Then the four launched their dory and rowed to the steamship, where sailors helped them up the rope ladder.

The survivors included Magnus Benjamin of Boston, captain, John T. Johnson, mate; Alexander Forbes, steward, and Hugh Llewellyn, seaman.

Captain Benjamin said:

ANCHOR CHAINS SNAPPED.

"We left Machiasport, Me., a week ago bound for Vineyard Haven with a cargo of 208,000 feet of lumber. We encountered rough going most of the trip, but all went well until Sunday night, when it began to whip up about eighty miles an hour. We anchored not more than twenty-five miles from our destination, putting out both anchors.

"As the gale increased the anchor chains snapped and we were driven away. With sails close-reefed we hoped to survive the gale, but soon the canvas had been ripped to shreds, leaving us only a small piece of jib. With this, however, we managed to keep her headed into the wind.

"Meanwhile she'd sprung a leak and the gasoline pump failed. We manned the hand pumps but the leak began to get the better of us and finally we were forced to go out on deck. Later we climbed to the roof of the after-house. All day Monday we flew the distress signal but at dusk we lowered it fearing that it might be blown away in the

SENTENCE MEN IN KLAN CHURCH LOOTING

Burlington, Nov. 18.—Convicted of petit larceny as a result of entering St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church here and removing from it a number of sacred objects, William McCreedy and Gordon Wells, alleged Ku Klux Klan novitiates, were sentenced to from four to six months each in the House of Correction at Windsor today. William Moyers, Klan organizer, who pleaded guilty to a grand larceny charge in connection with the affair, has not yet been sentenced.

WOMAN, CHARGED WITH MURDER OF HUSBAND, DANCES GAILY

MRS. COTE 'LIFE OF PARTY' IN JAIL AT PORTLAND

Mrs. Cote had urged him for weeks to kill her husband.

"She kept nagging me to do it," Fielding told the officers. "I didn't want to; finally she told me she had come into enough money to look out for us if we got in trouble and agreed to see that my wife was well provided for if things went wrong with me. I finally told her I would do it on my vacation and did."

ATTY.-GEN. IN CHARGE.

Attorney-General Benford W. Shaw took charge of the case today. County Attorney Ralph M. Ingalls conferred with Percival Sanborn, brother of Mrs. Cote's first husband; Deputy Sheriff Eugene H. Norton of Gorham, aided by County Attorney Ingalls and High Sheriff King Graham, interviewed various friends and neighbors of the Cotes and Sanborn families in an effort to glean information relative to the fate of Mrs. Cote's first husband.

Ralph Sanborn, the son of the accused woman, in his alleged confession, stated that they burned Cote's best suit of clothes, his suitcase and other personal effects in order to give weight to their story that he had gone to parts unknown.

Ralph pointed out the embers of this fire. When they burned Cote's body they stuffed his khaki hunting cap under his coat and laid his rifle beside his body in order to give the impression that he had taken that with him, it is alleged.

Fielding was bluntly asked by the officers what he knew about the disappearance of the first husband.

NEEDED COTE ON FARM.

Mrs. Cote, whose maiden name was Lottie Pierman, was adopted as a child by a wealthy farmer named Johnson, whose family owned extensive properties in Newfield. Mrs. Johnson educated her and willed to her the 150-acre farm. Mrs. Cote told the officers that she married Alphonse Cote, who was a farmhand, in 1915, six months after she procured a divorce from Sanborn, alleging desertion.

She told the police that she did not love Cote, but needed a man to run the farm. In their search for a motive, the Cumberland County officials claim that the murder of Cote was brought about indirectly by the will of Minnie Bradbury, a wealthy aunt of Mrs. Cote, late of Buxton.

Mrs. Bradbury left Mrs. Cote $5,000 and each of her children $1,000. Cote is said to have arranged to buy an automobile and to go to other expense on the strength of the legacy and this was resented by Mrs. Cote and her two sons, Roland, twenty-one, and Ralph, nineteen years old.

$54,093 HANOVER TRUST DIVIDENDS AWAIT CALL

There are thousands of persons in Boston evidently who do not care for money. The liquidation agent of the defunct Hanover Trust Company reported that he had on hand $54,093.66 uncalled for by depositors. This amount represents about 5,000 people, the amounts of the dividends ranging from less than $1 to several hundreds.

The first dividend was declared in 1923 and many have not yet called for it.

THREE MEN CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLEMENT

Stamford, Ct., Nov. 18.—Tima Stimate of Stamford, Roy H. Malcolm of Mount Vernon and Harry C. McGrath of Stamford, are being held by the Stamford police on a charge of embezzlement. They are employes of the Beneficial Loan Society. It is charged by the police that they have appropriated close to $1,000 belonging to the company in their dealings with Stamford people.

night and boiled without any signal when daylight came.

STEAMER SIGHTED.

"We had just hauled down the signal and taken to the roof of the after-house when we sighted the steamer and succeeded in attracting her attention."

It is doubtful whether the half-frozen, weary quartet could have survived many more hours on the schooner.

The coast guard cutter Tampa, whose radio was out of order for a time, sent word today by wireless that it was headed for the wreck and would tow it in if possible and otherwise would blow it up.

The Tampa towed two schooners to safety in Provincetown yesterday. One was the Petrel and the other was the W. T. Dell.

Rum row was broken up by the long and powerful winds over the week-end, the vessels which composed it scurrying to safety.

Three Dead, Eight Are Missing, in Gale

With a known death toll of three, and eight missing, the gripping cold wave that swept New England passed out to sea today, after having caused hundreds of thousands of dollars damage to property.

The break came at 7 o'clock today, when the mercury began an upward climb, with the promise of rain by noon.

The dead are:

John H. Murphy, 65 years, of No. 87 Hewin street, Roxbury, found unconscious in a doorway at No. 498 Blue Hill avenue, died on the way to City Hospital.

John Hardy, 40 years, frozen to death in South Meadows, Hartford, Ct.

Captain Albert Peterson of Brooklyn, N. Y., died in the icy water while being hauled aboard the coastguard cutter Ossipee, when his barge, the Tamisi, wandered off Monhegan Island, Maine.

The missing:

John Curtis, twenty-six years, of North Main street, Colchaset.

Louis Fridgette, twenty-six years, of Parker street, Colchaset.

Six men, members of the crews of two stone barges, believed to have foundered off Monhegan Island, Me.

SEARCH FOR CREWS.

The weight of the mid-Winter storm fell heaviest on shipping, which was slowly coming to life and movement today, after having been tied up in port during the gale.

The Coast Guard cutter Ossipee left Rockland, Me., early to search for the crews of the barges Strafford and Pomatgong. Together with the Cantata they were cut adrift by the tug Kingfisher when the tow became unmanageable off Monhegan Island.

The Ossipee brought here the body of Captain Peterson of the Cantata and Raymond Dubois of Pawtucket, R. I., a sailor. Dubois was rescued from the Cantata in a state of collapse, and the captain died as he was being drawn to safety by the cutter's crew.

The Pomatgong foundered, but the Strafford was still afloat at last accounts. The tug was standing by the barge when the cutter left for Rockland last night.

It is feared that the two Coleshet men were lost, as they put out in Curtis' boat Sunday noon, intending to return that night.

The chief damage locally was evidenced in frozen water pipes and automobile radiators, and in an epidemic of fires, there being three in Boston alone, with others at Oak Island, Revere, and Somerville coal wagon was broken, Boston was colder today than any of the large cities.

In Washington the thermometer registered 26 degrees at 8 a. m. In St. Louis it was 32, New York 20, Baltimore 26, Philadelphia 26, Chicago 32, Los Angeles 46, Jacksonville 56, New Orleans 60. In Northfield, Vt., the glass read 12 degrees this morning, while at Greenville, Me., it was also 12 above.

COLDEST SPOT.

The coldest spot on the weather map this side of the Arctic Circle was White River, Ontario, where it was 10 below zero. At Corcoran, Ontario, the thermometer registered 4 degrees below.

The menacing low pressure area which had its center Monday in the vicinity of Duluth, moved rapidly southeastward overnight and was halted off the Carolinas.

It was this threat in the West that led Washington weather headquarters to issue a storm warning late Monday. Today it appears, however, that the northeastern section of the country will be spared from storm disturbance.

Local weather experts, however, admit the possibility of a little rain from a northward movement of the low pressure area.

6 Men, Missing Since Thursday, on Rum Ship

Bobcat Is Caught By Two Trappers In Foxboro

Foxboro, Nov. 18.—Residents of Oak street have been missing chickens for some time and now believe the thief was a bobcat, caught by Walter Reeve and Robert Crowe.

The animal was found in one of their traps and was killed with bullets. It weighed twelve pounds and measured three feet.

WEIRS FIREBUG GLOATED OVER BLAZE

Laconia, N. H., Nov. 18.—Mental experts will examine Milo Prescott, twenty-nine-year-old pyromaniac, who gleefully told the police how he caused the $250,000 fire at The Weirs, and burned the Watson garage, several days ago.

"I like to see them blaze and burn. I like to see the flames leap and the firemen dash up. It's great."

This is the only motive Prescott had in carrying out his program of incendiarism, according to Deputy Marshal Claude W. Foster, to whom the confession was made.

Not only did Prescott set the fire at the Weirs and at the Watson garage, but he also made an unsuccessful attempt to destroy the Boston & Maine wharf, where the lake steamer Mt. Washington was tied up.

Prescott also admits that on the Sunday night following the quarter of a million dollar fire at The Weirs, he was responsible for a fire at Meredith.

The self-confessed fire-bug has been held without bail and pending his appearance in court, experts will examine him and determine his mental status.

Fire Destroys $500,000 Mill Plant at Fair Haven, Vt.

Fair Haven, Vt., Nov. 18.—A fire of undetermined origin destroyed the plant of the Vermont Milling Products Corporation near this city, the loss being estimated at nearly $500,000.

Employes aided by the Whitehall, N. Y., fire department, battled the flames with water from an abandoned quarry, but were driven from their position.

Finished material, ground slate for use on roofs, valued at $125,000, was destroyed, as was also valuable machinery.

TRUCK DRIVER BEATS OFF TWO HIGHWAYMEN

Franklin, Nov. 18.—When two men climbed aboard his truck as the machine was going up Eagle Hill between Franklin and Bellingham and ordered him to stop the machine, Raymond Bacon, Providence, driver for the Ward Baking Company, put up a battle instead.

The men, dressed in overalls and mackinaws, were apparently woodsmen or farm laborers. With the truck moving slowly over the hill, Bacon fought the pair and when the top of the hill was reached and the truck took on speed, the would-be highwaymen leaped to the road.

FIRE AT WATERBURY CAUSES $75,000 LOSS

Waterbury, Ct., Nov. 18.—Fire today caused damage estimated at $75,000 in the Chase building on Exchange place. The Oltbach Company, women's furnishings, occupying a store in the building, reported an estimated loss of $50,000. Damage to the building was placed at $20,000 and office tenants and the King Yen Chinese restaurant suffered minor losses.

LIVINGSTONE AT TOP FOR POLICE LIEUTENANCY

Sergeant William W. Livingstone of No. 85 West Brookline street tops an eligible list established today by the civil service commission for promotion to the grade of lieutenant in the Boston police department.

Second and third on the list are Sergeants John T. O'Dea and Daniel J. Hines. A vacancy can be filled from any one of the first three.

The examination was held on September 29. Ninety-one sergeants took the test and three failed to pass.

The standing of the remaining sergeants as they appear on the list follows:

HUB MEN LEAP FOR LIFE AS BOAT BURNS

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 18.—Captain John Wimble and two companions, enroute from Boston to Florida in the twenty-foot motor-boat Ambra, will finish the journey by rail. The boat, a blackened hull burned to the water line, lies on the beach in Mashjack Bay.

The boat caught fire, after the tanks had been loaded with fuel and the three men aboard had barely time to jump overboard before the entire craft was ablaze.

FIRE DRIVES LEWISTON FAMILIES TO STREET

Lewiston, Me., Nov. 18. — The apartment block of L. E. Pellerin on Bates street was damaged by fire and four families who occupied it were driven out by dense smoke.

Mrs. Ralph Washburn was assisted out of her tenement, and Rudolphe Doucette, a fireman, was overcome by smoke.

MAN FOUND IN SNOW, FROZEN TO DEATH

Columbus, O., Nov. 18.—One death from the cold weather which swept the Ohio Valley, bringing with it the first snow of the season, was reported today. The body of an unidentified man, 50 years of age, was found buried in the snow on the bank of the Olentangey River. He had been frozen to death.

Province St. Now 50 Foot Roadway at $1,300,000 Cost

Province street, which during the last year has been made over from an alley ten feet wide into a highway fifty feet wide, is open to vehicular travel.

The busy old byway between School and Bromfield streets has lost much of the atmosphere that permeated it when it was a favorite site for dispensers of good things to eat and drink. The widening of this narrow thoroughfare, at a cost of more than $250,000, is perhaps the first step of a new highway parallel to Washington and Tremont streets.

WIFE OF PASTOR ENDS HER LIFE IN FURNACE

Columbus, O., Nov. 18.—County Prosecutor John R. King was today investigating the death of Mrs. Addie Sheatsley, fifty, wife of Rev. M. C. Sheatsley, pastor of Christ Lutheran Church, Bexley, whose charred ashes were taken from a furnace in the Sheatsley home.

Prosecutor King after a partial investigation, declared that it would have been possible for the woman to have suicided by crawling into the furnace and closing the door behind her as Coroner Murphy's verdict had said.

Remains of the body and pieces of jewelry belonging to her were found in the firebed when the Rev. Mr. Sheatsley returned home after a short absence. He immediately called neighbors and Coroner Murphy was summoned. The minister's attention was directed to the furnace by burning flesh, he told police.

Mrs. Sheatsley was alone in the house, according to her husband's statement. When the four children returned from school they found the house filled with smoke and opened the furnace door, but saw nothing unusual, they said.

The minister told police his wife had been extremely nervous for some time. Because she seemed more nervous than usual yesterday, he cancelled a hunting trip he had planned, he said.

RUM GANG GIVEN TIME TO PREPARE FOR JAIL

City officials of the North Shore communities who pleaded guilty to participation in rum-running operations in federal court with the expectation of escaping with light fines, had their hopes dashed when stiff jail sentences were handed out by Judge Lowell.

City Councilman Albert H. Reynolds of Newburyport gets a two-year term in Plymouth Jail.

Harold P. Congdon, chief of police of Salisbury, four months at Plymouth. Selectman Ruel S. Getchell of this. All were granted to arrange their personal affairs.

Anthony Caramagna, "The Jap," was given one week in which to pay a $300 fine.

POLICEMAN IS FIRE HERO IN ROXBURY

Patrolman Beckett and an unidentified man were the heroes of an early morning fire at 1911-1921 Washington street, Roxbury, which drove forty scantily-clad residents into the street in a panic and badly damaged a wooden three-story store and tenement building. The origin of the fire has not been determined.

Patrolman Beckett discovered the blaze and turned in an alarm. He rushed back to the building to arouse the sleeping tenants. Smoke filled the hallways and rooms and the patrolman and the unidentified man carried several persons to safety after they had been overcome by the fumes.

BENEFACTOR GUEST OF HARVARD BUSINESS MEN

George F. Baker of New York, who last Spring gave $5,000,000 to the Harvard Business School, will be the guest of honor at a banquet to be given by the Business School Club, student organization, at the Harvard Union.

Other guests will be President A. Lawrence Lowell, Bishop Lawrence, and George F. Baker, Jr., Dean Wallace B. Donham will preside.

ITALY TO RUSH PLAN FOR VOTES FOR WOMEN

Rome, Nov. 18 (I.N.S.).—Three-mildold, with the necessary educational old, with teh necessary educational requirements, will be enfranchised under a bill the Cabinet has decided to rush through Parliament, putting into immediate effect Premier Mussolini's change of heart toward women voting. For the present the restricted classes affected under the new bill may vote in only municipal elections.

BROOKLINE LABORERS' PAY RAISED 10 CENTS

Brookline town laborers have been granted an increase of 10 cents a day by the Board of Selectmen

POLICE CLAMP LID TIGHT IN BACK BAY

Vice Squads Round Up Offenders Despite Denial of Vice Conditions

Vice squads, operating from police headquarters and from the Back Bay station have clamped the "lid" down and bolted it fast in the Back Bay. Police activities also have been extended to Roxbury, where special details are rounding up persons charged with gambling statutory offences and streetwalking.

Reports by the Intercollegiate Committee on Student Living Conditions alleging that vice and immorality hold sway in Back Bay rooming houses occupied by students, are believed to have caused the sudden police activity in that district, despite the fact the police denied any vice conditions existed.

Details of police have visited houses in Newbury, Montford and Batavia streets and Westland avenue in the Back Bay and a number of arrests have been made. Other squads of plain clothes men looked over houses in Geeyer street and Warren avenue, Roxbury.

Nine young men, arrested in a house in Newbury street and charged with gambling, paid fines of $5 each and two others who were taken in the same raid paid a like amount on charges of being present where gaming implements were found.

Ten men and a girl, arrested as a result of an inside tip that a merry party was in progress at No. 102 George street are to be tried today. All pleaded guilty when arraigned, and the cases were put over.

COX POINTS WAY TO SAFETY ON THE ROAD

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 18.—Speaking before the governors' conference today on "Safeguarding the Highways," Governor Channing H. Cox of Massachusetts, declared that the problem must be faced at once. "It is everywhere legally held that a motor vehicle can only be operated on the public highways by permission of the State," he said, "and the State must see more and more in granting licenses to operate motor vehicles, must enact stricter laws and must use more vigor in the enforcement of such laws."

He reviewed the accomplishments in the direction of motor fatalities on the highways, and outlined some of the projects now under consideration in the State.

BROADWAY HIT STOLEN, AUTHOR SAYS IN SUIT

New York, Nov. 18.—The Broadway success, "Polly Preferred," is identical in theme with "Personality," Osip Dymo, Russian playwright, declares.

Dymo is prosecuting a suit against his "Personality" and produced it as "Polly Preferred."

The Russian claimed that he had agreed to collaborate with Bolton in the writing of a play. He sent the first draft of "Personality" to Bolton, heard nothing from it, and later saw it on the stage as the other piece.

HARVARD UNDERCLASS MEN INDIFFERENT TO VOTING

Indifference to voting is not confined to ordinary citizens. The Harvard classes of 1926 and '27, sophomores and juniors, were supposed to elect class officers last night with the balloting closing Saturday night. But so few ballots were returned that the Student Council has been forced to order a extension, and all ballots mailed before 6 o'clock last night will be received. A vote by 60 per cent of the classes is necessary for an election.

WOMAN JUMPS WHEN TRAIN STRIKES AUTO

A man and a woman were only slightly injured when an auto in which they were riding was demolished when it was struck by a train at the grade crossing on Concord avenue, North Cambridge. They are Herbert I. French of No. 6 West street, Arlington, and Miss Hazel Cope of No. 4 West street. He suffered a sprained back but she jumped before the collision and was unhurt.

BANDITS SEND ENGINE CHARGING AT TRAIN

Mexico City, Nov. 18.—Bandits under Vidal Tenorio stopped a freight train on the Vera Cruz-Isthmus line, sacking the cars and afterward sending the locomotive against an approaching passenger train. A crash was avoided when the engineer drove back the passengers while the crew derailed the locomotive.

FITCHBURG MAN GETS 10 YEARS FOR SLAYING

Worcester, Nov. 18. — Antonio Angolie of Fitchburg, pleaded guilty to a charge of manslaughter in shooting Rocco Petitti in Fitchburg on September 4, and was sentenced by Judge Fosdick to from three to ten years in State Prison.

Filene's Automatic Bargain BASEMENT for MEN

From the New York American last week:—

"The careful citizen will go to the store and buy what he needs NOW, without further delay. Prices are low, because merchants whose business has been checked by abnormally warm weather have cut prices regardless of original cost. But cold weather is COMING. And what is more important, the prosperity boom is here already. When prices go up on the Stock Exchange you know that before long prices will be going up IN THE STORES also. Do your shopping early for the sake of your POCKETBOOK this time, not merely for the sake of the overworked Christmas time salesman."

FURIOUS BATTLE RAGES OVER CENSORSHIP OF HARVARD BOOKS

CLASH OVER WHAT IS FIT FOR STUDENTS TO READ

Harvard is peeved. Fast and furiously rages a battle, a civil war, but words are the only missiles. It's about censorship of what Harvard reads.

Books such as Boccicio's Decameron and the work of Havelock Ellis are practically unobtainable by the students. The Harvard Advocate in its last issue, which was hailed by one reviewer as the long-needed forum for open discussion, waxes indignant.

And that started the war, which today takes up several columns in the Harvard Crimson.

LIBRARIAN'S POSITION.

Both sides of the question are given in the Crimson, which then scores the censorship in its editorial columns.

According to William C. Lane, graduate in 1881 and librarian of the university:

"There are filthy books, books corrupting in influence, which it is no part of the library's duty to distribute to readers, though it must be admitted that there are plenty such nowadays on the counters of the bookstores. The library has no interest in providing for the man with a keen scent; it does want to give the genuine student all he asks for."

And then hot shots against the system follow from E. L. Raiche, instructor in French:

"Some of the things that the Advocate maintains are unquestionably true and deserve to be severely criticised. The inferno that is located somewhere in the depths of Widener and which contains books which are under lock and key is one of those preposterous things which make Harvard seem more like a preparatory school than a university."

CRIMSON EDITORIAL.

Commenting on Mr. Lane's statement, a Crimson editorial says:

"The attitude might be permissible were he referring to public libraries in general. But Widener Library is not a public library. It is the private library of Harvard University, used by a select group of fairly mature students possessed of good breeding and good sense. These men need no 'great-grandmotherly' supervision of their morals and the attempt to infringe their independence of thought is an insult to their character."

Mr. Lane invites the appointment of a student committee of mature men to take up the matter with him, and promises to lay the books in question before them for their judgment as to the policy of the library.

Leader of American Catholic Women Honored by Pope

Washington, Nov. 18.—The decoration Pro Ecclesia et Pontifice has been conferred by Pope Pius XI on Mrs. Gertrude Hill Gavin, retiring president of the National Council of Catholic Women. It was announced here today by the Right Rev. Joseph Schrembs of the National Catholic Welfare Conference. The Pope commended her for meritorious services.

IRISH PILOT HAD TO CROSS ATLANTIC OCEAN

New York, Nov. 18.—The steamer America arrived here today with Christopher Ahearne, the pilot who guided the ship out of Queenstown harbor, still on board.

Rough weather off the Irish coast prevented him from leaving the ship.

Mellon's Car in Dash Sends Two to Hospital

Washington, Nov. 18.—A Cabinet officer's automobile in a dash down Connecticut avenue today sent two men to hospitals, demolished a truckload of building material which got in its path, and left a wake of broken automobile parts and crushed curbing.

The car was listed as belonging to Secretary Mellon, but he was not in it. Arthur F. Sixsmith, secretary to Mr. Mellon, was a passenger, and Sixsmith's chauffeur, a negro, was held. Eye-witnesses declared a crowd surrounded the car when it finally came to a stop and that cries of "Lynch him!" were shouted at the driver.

COAL GAS SENDS THREE TO HOSPITAL

Springfield, Nov. 18.—Mrs. Lucy P. Eckert and her two sons, Raymond and Charles, are in the city hospital as a result of being overcome by coal gas while they slept. Their condition is serious. Raymond dragged himself to the telephone. He collapsed. Police found him unconscious on the floor, his brother Charles and his mother were unconscious in bed and the house was filled with coal gas coming from a new steam heat boiler in the cellar.

NUMBED BY THE COLD, PLUNGES FROM ROOF

A fall from the roof of a garage he was repairing at the yards of the J. P. O'Neil Coat Company, Columbia street and Webster avenue, Somerville, resulted in serious injuries to William Ford of No. 207 Princeton street, East Boston, today. Ford, unconscious, was taken to the Somerville Hospital. It is thought the cold numbed his fingers so that he lost his hold, falling and striking on his head.

HUSBAND IN COLLEGE, WIFE SUPPORTED HIM

When Gladys Burnett, a concert singer of Lynn, eloped with Herbert F. Mills, a Boston real estate salesman, she did not reckon that she would be compelled to obtain work to help pay for his tuition at Brown University, which institution he entered soon after marriage. When Mrs. Mills hinted that it was time Mills went to work, he left her. Now she is suing for divorce.

M'CLOSKEY IS VICTOR IN $10,000 SUIT

Former Harvard Trainer Gets Promised Pay for Being Rich Man's Bodyguard

Salem, Nov. 18.—John L. McCloskey, of Cambridge, former Harvard trainer and fight manager, won his fight before Judge Webster Thayer in the Essex Superior Civil Court for $10,000 which he said was due him from the estate of Thomas H. O'Shea, wealthy leather manufacturer of Peabody.

McCloskey testified he had been promised that amount if he would remain with O'Shea and take care of him while he lived. It was at the direction of Judge Thayer that the jury brought in a verdict.

In 1911, McCloskey said, he entered the employ of O'Shea and was paid $25 a week. At first he acted only as physical training instructor but later he became coachman, chauffeur and bodyguard, frequently accompanying O'Shea to roadhouses and protecting him when he became involved with strangers during drinking bouts. He was his rubber and virtually his nurse on occasions.

Protesting against the low wages he received, McCloskey said his employer promised him that if he would remain with him until his death he would be given $10,000. Thomas O'Shea, son of the late leather manufacturer and administrator of his estate, was sued by McCloskey for the money.

The defense entered a general denial of McCloskey's charges. Also several witnesses but testified emphatically for both sides conferred and then Judge Thayer directed a verdict for McCloskey.

Traffic Officer Gets Ticket For Parking on Wrong Street

Watertown Officer J. Sumner Viles of the Weston police department, whose tour of duty includes a long stretch of the Boston Post road, was a victim of a traffic officer in Waltham.

Viles had a day off and visited a Waltham theatre. He parked his automobile as close to Elm street in front of City Hall, that somebody moved it enough to bring the machine closer to Elm street intersection than is allowed by the city ordinance.

At least that was Officer Viles' explanation to Lieutenant Cloonan of the Waltham police, to whom Viles reported after finding a tag on his machine.

Cloonan handed Viles a copy of the Waltham traffic ordinance and dismissed the matter.

Broker Dies

Madison, Ct., Nov. 18.—Louis D. Stanton, fairly well known here, president of the brokerage firm of L. D. Stanton & Co., and a member of the New York Stock Exchange, died at his home here after an illness of several months.

NEW MYSTERY IN ROGERS DEATH

New Haven Woman, Star Witness, Suddenly Vanishes From State

New Haven, Nov. 18.—More mystery was thrown around the case of Charles G. Rogers, bond salesman of this city, who was killed while automobiling with Marjorie Schneider on November 1 last, by the disappearance of one of the star witnesses, Mrs. Ruth Hulse.

Mrs. Hulse was motoring on the North Haven road when she was scooped by Miss Schneider and drove the latter to this city while Rogers was being taken to the hospital.

The mother of Mrs. Hulse, Mrs. Wilhelm, admitted that her daughter had left the State, but claimed it was with the permission of State's Attorney Alling.

Whom Miss Schneider will be brought to trial on charges of driving while under the influence of liquor in connection with the case Grand Juror Ward Church refused to state.

FORD IN MOVE TO HARNESS MAINE TIDE

Bangor, Me., Nov. 18.—Several facts point to the conclusion that Henry Ford is the mind behind the proposed plan to harness the Quoddy tides at Eastport, Me., in a $100,000,000 water power project.

The development would produce 600,000 horsepower, sufficient to supply all of Maine and most of New England.

It is believed that the automobile genius has hit upon the Eastport proposal as a substitute for his Muscle Shoals plan.

Dexter P. Cooper, engineer in charge, is a brother of Hugh Cooper, Ford's chief engineer, and the man who prepared Ford's plans for the development of Muscle Shoals, the bid on which Congress subsequently disapproved.

Mr. Cooper, however, denies that Ford is interested in the project. Recently Ford announced he had definitely abandoned his idea for the development of the Shoals.

KEPT IN BACKGROUND.

It is believed here that Ford is being kept in the background because the land values of property it will be necessary to purchase would advance tremendously if his connection with the plan were known.

Another whose name has been mentioned in connection with the project is Thomas A. Edison, who stated in an interview recently that the Quoddy tides could be harnessed.

Cooper's plan is now before the Federal Water Power Commission. Approval of the project will be sought from the United States and Canadian governments.

BIG BOOM FOR MAINE.

A hydro-electric power plant at Eastport, as planned, probably would cause the biggest boom in the history of Maine. There would be enough power to supply every factory in the State, and sufficient left over to operate factories over all New England.

The plant probably would be able to undersell all competitors and would solve the grave problem confronting New England manufacturers: that of the increasing cost of coal.

Tentative plans for the construction of the power plant calls for the construction of a series of huge dams which would enclose two great ponds, one to be kept at near the high level of water and other to be kept near the low level.

TWO BIG POOLS.

One pool is to be located in St. Andrews Bay and known as the "upper pool," and the other will be in Cobscook Bay and known as the "lower pool." Between will be a power house containing machinery to generate power by allowing water to flow out of the upper pool into the lower pool, through the powerhouse. As the two pools never will be allowed to come to the same level, power can be generated continually.

REVERE AIDING VICTIMS OF BIG FIRE

Temporary Homes Provided While Funds Are Being Raised for Relief

Mayor Thomas A. Noone of Revere arranged today for a temporary home for William Kenney, his wife and daughter, three of the forty victims of the fire which destroyed nine dwellings in the Oak Island district.

Kenney, a cripple, was saved from possible suffocation by William Cousa, janitor of the Carl Mabie School nearby. With his family he will be given a home by Mrs. Morel at North Shore road and Revere street. Friends and relatives are caring for the other victims.

Besides a fund started for the victims by the police department, a minstrel show will be run for their benefit by a political organization, known as the "Morning, Noone and Night Club."

The subscription list to the fund was headed today by Mayor Noone and Chief of Police Dyer, with contributions of $100 apiece. The fire victims are in needy circumstances having lost all their belongings as well as their homes. Most of the property destroyed, valued at $75,000, was uninsured. The largest house destroyed was the Centennial, owned by William Raddin, a seven-family apartment house on the boulevard, nearly 700 feet away from where the fire originally started.

BRAZILIANS KILL URUGUAYAN CITIZEN

Buenos Aires, Nov. 18.—La Nacion's correspondent at Rivera, Uruguaya, says a party of Brazilian government troops crossed the frontier and killed a Uruguyan citizen in Uruguayan territory. Mutineers from the Brazilian battleship Sao Paulo have arrived from Montevideo and crossed the frontier into the Brazilian province of Rio Grande Do Sul to join the revolutionists there.

WANTS MORE OFFICERS FOR ARTILLERY RESERVE

Washington, Nov. 18.—Efforts to increase the number of reserve artillery officers are urged by Major General William J. Snow, chief of field artillery, in pointing out to Secretary Weeks that nearly twenty thousand additional artillery officers would be needed at a conservative estimate in the event of a major war emergency. The present reserve corps enrollment of artillery officers, General Snow said was 7,899.

STONE CROSSES FOR WAR VETS BURIED OVERSEAS

Washington, Nov. 18.—The battle monuments commission, headed by General Pershing, has decided informally that the graves of American war dead in France shall be marked for all time with white crosses in patterns similar to the wooden markers that have stood over the graves since the war.

CUPID BESTOWS FRANCHISE ON HAPPY BRIDE

The ranks of Bay State farmers chalked up a loss today, but matrimony and the nation scored a blushing bride, a new voter and a student of politics.

Five hundred guests filled the farmhouse of Mrs. Christian Zacher, sixty-year-old South Walpole widow, at her marriage to Edward H. Ischer, wealthy widower of West Roxbury.

Congratulations were showered on the venerable bride, who, for half a century, has oiled, raising chickens and farming in Germany and in Walpole.

Wife of a resident alien until a year ago, she had always wanted to vote, but never had had the opportunity.

"Now I shall have time to study politics and vote," she said, after the ceremony. Ischer is an American citizen.

The thought that henceforth she need toil only from budget on the farm but will have maids to do her work and answer the call of an electric button came second.

Even the prospect of a Winter at Palm Beach did not thrill her as much as the fact that she now can cast a ballot.

"I'm going to be a real American," she declared. "There never was time on the farm."

But the bride was not unmindful of modern elegance. For years she has meticulously combed heavily laced boots brought with her from Germany against the day when America should have made her a lady.

These olden fabrics she has discarded in favor of dainty silks and negligees.

AMNESTY GRANTED TO EX-PREMIER CAILLAUX

Paris, Nov. 18 (A.P.)—Joseph Caillaux, former Premier, who in October, 1918, was found guilty of having intended connection of the war, was voted amnesty today by the Senate, 178 to 114.

The amnesty bill was adopted by the Chamber of Deputies last July.

Tells How to Darken Gray Hair With Barbo Compound

Joleen Williams, the well-known American actress, recently made the following statement about gray hair, and how to darken it, with a home-made mixture:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will gradually darken gray, streaked or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy. Into a half pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

LIKENS ALDERMEN TO CHILDREN

MRS. ALEXOWNA CROWELL, HER SON AND DAUGHTER

Mrs. Crowell is a candidate for the Melrose Board of Aldermen and she likens their discussions to the actions of wayward children. Her son is Minot J. Crowell, an instructor at Yale, and her daughter is Mrs. Florence Sargent of Knoxville, Tenn.

GRANDMA POL HITS JEALOUS SISTERS

Jealousy prevents women from taking their proper places in municipal government.

This is the view of Mrs. Alexowna Crowell of No. 343 Washington street, Melrose, candidate for the Melrose Board of Aldermen.

Mrs. Crowell is a grandmother. She is the first woman ever to seek office in the government of her city.

"I decided if I couldn't do better in the aldermanic chamber than some of the present members of the board, I would go to bed and stay there," she declares.

"Three women refused to sign my nomination papers, on the ground that they did not believe in women in government. I believe that as long as we have votes, we should be in politics, but we are handicapped by jealousy.

"But for all the jealousy among women, there never could be more bickering in the board of aldermen than there is with a membership of men entirely. The City of Melrose is like a wayward child, reared by strangers, and returned undisciplined to its parents. Mayor Provandie is getting things in shape and I am supporting him for re election.

"Everybody says women can get all they look for. Well, I am out to get the taxpayers their money's worth. Our ward is slighted in municipal improvements and it is time for us to get our share. In this respect my platform is a plank for new sidewalks.

"I believe thoroughly in house work for women but my children are grown up and married. I still wield the broom and dustrag, but I have time for politics, too. I don't care if the meetings are all night ones sometimes, I am on the job to stick right through so that my ward will be properly represented.

EDISON HEARING TO COME UP DECEMBER 23

Hearings in the suits brought by the city of Boston, the New England Publishing Company and Attorney Conrad W. Crooker to compel the Edison company to reduce its rates will be resumed before the State Department of Public Utilities Tuesday, December 23.

Tentative dates set for December 8, 9 and 11 were abandoned by the department upon learning that President Charles L. Edgar of the company, the first witness to be called, would not return from a visit to California until approximately five days before Christmas.

FEAR GALE HAS SWEPT SEVEN TO DEATH AT SE

New York, Nov. 18.—Police of the marine division today were scouring the seas nearby for the Frolic, a 34-foot sloop which set out Sunday morning with seven men aboard. The men expected to return before night and it is feared they perished in the heavy seas that accompanied the heavy gales that have been sweeping the coast. Members of the searching squad expressed the fear that the little vessel had gone down.

The liner Adriatic arrived several hours late, her superstructure battered by waves and coated with ice. A sailor was blown overboard and a lifeboat was stove in.

ORSE IS BURNED IN EVERETT BARN FIRE

A horse was burned to death, but firemen saved several automobiles, when Herbert B. Keen's barn, at No. 908 Broadway, Everett, was damaged badly by fire. Paint and lumber in the barn were lost, and the whole damage is estimated at $1,000.

FILENE URGES N.E. INDUSTRIES BE 'FORDIZED'

Mass Production by Trusts Secret of Prosperity in Future, He Says

Hartford, Ct., Nov. 18.—Mass production, through the agency of great beneficial trusts which the public "must help to work within the law," was given as the basis of New England's future prosperity by Edward A. Filene of Boston in an address before the New England District convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World. Mr. Filene's topic was "The Way Out for New England."

"The way is New England must be reorganized on a basis of mass production and mass distribution, to compete with the great national trusts that are developing in European countries to recover their markets," Mr. Filene said. He warned that the public must completely revise its idea of big business.

"The business of the future has got to be bigger than it is now to be successful enough to survive," he declared. "Mass production is coming in every country. Mass production is possible only through big business.

"Mass production will eliminate waste, harness New England's unused water power and unite small businesses in chain consolidations," Mr. Filene said. He saw these chain industries succeeding in mass production without great centralization. Factory units of the chain, scattered along water-power streams, could provide part-time employment in many farming communities.

"A Fordized New England will apply the art and science of its technical schools to the development of products that will compete with those of Paris in world markets. The only danger that threatens New England industry is the possibility that her business men will not awaken and prepare for the radical changes in world methods of production and distribution. New England's prosperity depends on the promptness with which these changes are met."

NEW ONE-WAY RULE ANGERS AUTOISTS

Brookline Folk Say Narrow Roadway in Beacon Street Is Dangerous

Brookline autoists are up in arms as a result of the action of the Board of Selectmen in making the two driveways in Beacon street one way traffic lanes between the reservoir and St. Mary's street.

The southerly driveway will serve eastbound traffic and the northerly roadway will be one way west. Signs have been posted in conspicuous spots and the police have begun a campaign to educate drivers to the new arrangement. No arrests will be made for violations of the one way traffic regulations, police officials say, until a reasonable time has elapsed in which autoists may become accustomed to the change.

Auto owners are particularly peeved at the condition between Coolidge Corner and St. Mary's street, where the southern driveway is particularly narrow. It is claimed that the narrowness of this stretch of road greatly increases the danger of accident.

HEARST'S GREAT SHIP FIGHT RECALLED

Suit to Save Battleship Washington Follows Publisher's Line of Action

Chicago, Nov. 18 (Universal)—Representative Stanley Kunz of Chicago has sent the following letter to Secretary of the Navy Wilbur:

"Suggest it would be better to wait until after Congress convenes before you destroy our new battleship Washington."

By JOHN T. LAMBERT.
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

Washington, Nov. 18.—The suit filed to stop the destruction of the $16,000,000 battleship Washington, and with it the subsequent destruction of other important vessels whose use would leave the American navy about as formidable as an empty fury on a storm-tossed sea, is in many respects on all fours with the historic suit brought four years ago by William Randolph Hearst, which saved the American merchant marine from annihilation.

COUNTRY SPARED SHAME.

Plans were then competed to sell the Leviathan and twenty-nine other German liners which now constitute the backbone of the merchant marine. The ships were worth more than $160,000,000. The Shipping Board was ready to sell them for about one-tenth of their value. They were to be sold principally to steamship corporations which owed allegiance not to Uncle Sam, but to Great Britain, and in the event of future unfriendly relations those vessels would be used to carry men, arms and munitions against the United States.

Mr. Hearst's voice was the only one in the nation raised against the sale of the Leviathan and the other twenty-nine liners.

Even under the strictest terms of the Washington conference, Secretary Wilbur need not destroy the battleship Washington before next year.

What has England done to fulfill its agreement in such matters? Why has Japan done?

WILBUR UNCONCERNED.

Mr. Wilbur admits that he does not know. Yet, without those important facts, Mr. Wilbur sets out to get rid of the future queen of the American navy with a haste which causes as much amazement in this country as it probably causes joy unconfined in England and Japan.

While all this is going on, Mr. Hughes maintains a silence as complete as that of an Egyptian mummy.

Mr. Hearst brought his now famous suit in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia. His action was just what was needed to fire the imagination and patriotism of the people. Within twenty-four hours protests against the sale of the ships were received from the Governors of twenty-three States. State legislatures adopted resolutions approving his course and condemning the Shipping Board policy. Men and women in all walks of life signed petitions to Congress to stand with Mr. Hearst.

The Shipping Board reported that Mr. Hearst was without interest in the matter and that it was empowered to do what it wanted to do. But Justice Bailey decided that Mr. Hearst was right and issued an injunction to stop the sale.

DR. KILMER'S SWAMP-ROOT FOR WEAK KIDNEYS

Thousands of Men and Women Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalency of kidney disease. Wallie kidney disorders are among the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patients, who usually content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease constantly undermines the system.

Weak kidneys may cause lumbago, rheumatism, catarrh of the bladder, pain or dull ache in the back, joints or muscles, at times have headache or indigestion, as time passes you may have a sallow complexion, puffy or dark circles under the eyes, sometimes feel as th ugh you had heart trouble, may have plenty of ambition but no strength, get weak and lose flesh.

If such conditions are permitted to continue, serious results are sure to follow; Kidney Trouble in its very worst form may steal upon you.

If you feel that your kidneys are the cause of your sickness or run down condition, begin taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the famous kidney, liver and bladder medicine, because as soon as your kidneys are well, they will help the other organs to health.

If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need, you can purchase the regular medium and large size bottles at all drug stores. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., which you will find on every bottle.

SPECIAL NOTE—You may obtain a sample size bottle of Swamp-Root by enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. They will also send you a book of valuable information, containing many of the thousands of grateful letters received from men and women who say they found Swamp-Root to be just the remedy needed in kidney, liver and bladder troubles. The value and success of Swamp-Root are so well known that our readers are advised to send for a sample size bottle. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing be sure and mention this paper.

Junior League Rehearsing Pretty Girls for Coming Amateur Show

By BETTY ALDEN.

"NOW THEN, let's start all over again please—three steps to the left, twirl, and back to the right."

Such is the familiar refrain at the Junior League rooms on Commonwealth avenue, where rehearsals are now being held for the show which the "leaguers" are putting on at the Copley Theatre next month.

I've already written about the clever folk who are to play major roles—like dashing Grace Sargent, spirited little Mrs. Dudley Ranney, pretty Miss Katherine ("Patty") Gray, talented "Joe" Sargeant or nimble-footed Joseph Seabury.

I note that the girls selected for the chorus may boast of considerable charm and pulchritude, to say nothing of talent.

For all-round dash and piquancy there's the petite and dark-eyed daughter of the Joseph Lindon Smiths. Frances is her given name, but "Tiny" her family call her. She is of the decided brunette type that goes with a creamy-white complexion. Both her illustrious pater, and her older sister, Miss Rebecca Smith, have made their name in the world of art, and Miss Frances herself seems inclined to follow in their footsteps.

Among the other girls who will enhance the chorus of "The Arcadians" are Mary Louise Butterfield, one of the prettiest debbies of last Winter; Olga Frothingham, Dorothy Weld, Elizabeth Newbegin, Emily Thompson, Dorothy Neyhart, Gwendolyn Farmer, Frances Dewart, Suzanne Richardson, Rachel Smith, as well as Mrs. Waller Badger, Jr., and Mrs. Chester Wardwell.

IT'S RATHER a pity that the two most important nuptial events of the month should both take place out-of-town.

Just a week from today comes the interesting ceremonial which will transform Miss Helen Peabody into the bride of Robert Minturn Sedgwick.

Naturally a most distinguished gathering of the clans of Peabody, Endicott, Sedgwick, Lawrence and others of that exhalted ilk will be on hand to witness the ceremonial, which will have for its setting the chapel of the Groton School at Groton.

The bride-to-be, who is the daughter of the Reverend and Mrs. Endicott Peabody, will have for her bridesmaids her two younger sisters, the Misses Elizabeth and Margery Peabody. Another sister, Mrs. William Barclay Parsons, Jr., comes over from Manhatten to attend her as matron of honor.

There will, by the way, be an equally distinguished representation from Gotham at the wedding, for young Sedgwick and his father, Henry Dwight Sedgwick, whose home is now in Cambridge, are former residents of New York, and another sister of the bride, Mrs. F. Trubee Davison (Dorothy Peabody), now has her domicile on Long Island.

THE FOLLOWING Saturday—the twenty-ninth—is the date set for the wedding of Miss Sylvia Cabot and Dr. Arthur M. Walker.

The church ceremony will take place in North Easton and will be followed by a reception at the North Easton country home of Mr. and Mrs. Winthrop Ames. The latter is the mother of Miss Cabot, who will be given away by her father, Philip Cabot of Milton.

HILL RAPS DRYS AS HE STARTS FOR HARVARD

Baltimore, Nov. 18.—Representative John P. Hill, before leaving this city for Cambridge, Mass., where he is to deliver a course of lectures in Congressional government at Harvard University, paid his respects to Wayne B. Wheeler, accusing the general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League of making a "deliberate misstatement" and calling him the "hired liar of the Anti-Saloon League."

"Wheeler's statement shows that Judge Soper's decision and the verdict of a Maryland jury have gotten under the skin of the campaign treasurer and legislative agent of the Anti-Saloon League," Mr. Hill said.

"Wheeler says the Hill case decides nothing, that with the irrelevant mud-slinging he learned from his late colleague, William H. Anderson, he adds that I become intoxicated with delight every time a jury acquits a bootlegger or other law violator.

"The Hill case decided that section 29 of the Volstead means what it says—that the farmer may make home-made wine and cider exclusively for home use, if it is non-intoxicating in fact. No farmer's cider is non- than 6 per cent."

HAMPDEN RISES TO OCCASION AS CYRANO

Actor in Brilliant Interpretation of Ugly Poetic Character at Opera House

By NICHOLAS YOUNG

NOTHING in what might be guardedly called the inspirational drama has flared more brilliantly than Walter Hampden's three hours of "Cyrano De Bergerac" at the Boston Opera House last evening. Mr. Hampden rose to the occasion not only by his own fine characterization of the ugly, poetic Cyrano, but he flanked himself on all side with players of talent—players without a flat stint—and invested the time worn, but always interesting theme and play with a production of imposing dimensions.

Walter Hampden

As things go in the theatre Mr. Hampden turned in a first class, adult job, finely balanced in its artistic aim and more than adequately complete in every mechanical detail. It was a notable performance, happily free from the usual defects found in the heavy presentations of which we have come to look upon in the big and ponderous drama of the day.

"Cyrano De Bergerac" was big in every respect, showy and impressive in its scenic completeness and amazingly comprehensive in personnel. There were constant evidences of Mr. Hampden's indulgence in theatrical luxuries.

TEST FOR ACTORS.

"Cyrano De Bergerac" has served other actors and served them well, but to the present crop of playgoers it will appear that the play could never have been in better or safer hands. Mr. Hampden's own contribution to the performance was all that good acting and an intelligent knowledge of the arts of the stage could bring to bear upon one of the greatest of dramatic characters—a character that tests the stuff of which actors are made. It was no faltering, uncertain Cyrano that Mr. Hampden carried to the Opera House last evening.

HAPPY IN CAST.

In his own support Mr. Hampden had treated himself well. The Roxane of Jeannette Sherwin was thoughtfully played with something of a blonde loveliness that was not oppressive. Charles Francis, as the dully romantic Christian, was agreeable without reaching extraordinary heights, and Basil Holloway, a recently imported English actor, held his own as Comte de Guiche. Cecil Yapp, in the unimportant role of Ragueneau, left a happy imprint on the evening.

It may have been the sudden November chill or, perhaps, a retreating interest in the better made drama—in any event, Mr. Hampden was called upon to face the smallest audience he has thus far encountered. He deserved a better fate.

TRIP TO HADES OFFERED AT FENWAY

"Dante's Inferno" Filmed Through Medium of Modern Tale of Selfishness

William Fox's latest spectacular production, "Dante's Inferno," is being shown this week at the Fenway Theatre.

Vivid pictures of the hereafter, down below, are remarkably presented. The big scenes of this dream offering have been handled with astonishing skill by Henry Otto, who directed and produced it.

Dante's immortal allegory has been interwoven with a modern story, of what might be called a "super mean" man, played by Ralph Lewis, who refuses to aid a friend in financial distress, aid hospitals, improve his tenements or sanction a love affair between his son and a very pretty nurse.

Mr. Lewis appears as Mortimer Judd, a money-grabbing, selfish millionaire, who comes to see the error of his ways when an unfortunate neighbor sends him a curse, accompanied by a copy of "Dante's Inferno" to read. He sends the curse because Judd will not help him out.

The reading of this takes us into the depths of "Hades," where a special mode of punishment is meted out for each kind of sin by a band of terrible looking demons, who act as the agents of the Judge Minos. The suicides are destined to stay forever in the earth like trees; the deceitful and fraudulent are burned in flaming tar; the murderers, harlots and liars are given a certain part of hell; and selfish rich are consigned to a pool of melted gold.

In this scene, hundreds of nude figures writhing in agony as the flames and tortures mete out eternal punishment, are seen. Dante, led by Virgil, the poet, is shown the various spots of torture, in a place where every sin is punished and there is no betwixt and between spot which will permit an escape.

The largest amount of work is done by Ralph Lewis as the selfish millionaire, and he does it well.

Week's Features

ORPHEUM—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, in an act called "Jack Dempsey in Person and in Action."

BOWDOIN SQ.—"The Mine With the Iron Door," "Wandering Husbands" and "West of the Waterboket."

CASINO—(Burlesque) Lena Daley's "Own Show," with Miss Daley at the head of the cast, assisted by Eddie Shubert.

FIELDS CORNER—"Barbara Frietchie" and "A Fight for Honor" on Wednesday and Thursday, and "Over All Night" and "Off and Run" on Friday and Saturday.

CAPITOL—"Tarnish" with May McAvoy and Ronald Colman, and "The Fast Worker," with Reginald Denny.

Coming Events

Betty Compson in "The Garden of Weeds" will be the film feature at the Fenway for a week beginning next Saturday.

Elsie Ferguson in "Carnival" will come to the Park next Monday as the opening bill in that playhouse under the management of A. L. Erlanger.

"Artists and Models"—mostly models—will be the show and girl attraction at the Shubert next week.

"Sir Hopkirk" will engage the attention of Mr. Meade's players at the Somerville next week.

"The Old Homestead" will be the attraction at the St. James next week.

"Captain Applejack" is announced as the attraction at the Copley next week.

THREE BARRIE PLAYS DELIGHT AT COPLEY

A delightful triple bill of Sir James M. Barrie's wartime plays was warmly received at the Copley Theatre last night. The plays were "The New Word," "Barbara's Wedding" and "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals." All were well cast by Mr. E. E. Clive.

The first piece is a father and son affair in which hidden affection comes to the surface as the son is about to leave for the front.

The second play, more sentimental in tone, shows a grandfather with a wandering brain and a loving granddaughter.

The last is recognized Barrie masterpiece, a play of rare character. It tells of a lowly charwoman's imaginings of her fantastic son at the front. The son returns in the flesh. He is huge and humorous. The returned highlander sees and accepts the situation, thus fulfilling the old lady's dream.

BOHEMIAN LIFE SHOWN IN ST. JAMES COMEDY

The Boston Stock Company at the St. James this week introduces to Boston playgoers a comedy direct from its original production on Broadway entitled "Judy drops In." The scenes are laid in the Bohemian section of New York and portray the life of four art students, carefree and happy, living in a garret.

Elsie Hitz, in the title role, pays the boys a visit late one night after her stern father has refused to allow her to enter the sanctity of his home. Judy receives a very cordial reception and the play goes on to show the effect her visit has on the lives of the four boys.

Bernard Nedell acts the leading part in his usual fine way assisted by Houston Richards, John Collier and Ralph Remly as his colleagues in the garret.

MARITAL COMEDY AT SOMERVILLE THEATRE

Laughter, bordering on the hysterical, was unloosened last evening at the Somerville Theatre where "New Toys" was presented by the Somerville Players. The story concerns a married couple who begin to tire of one another after they have passed the second year of matrimonial life. Each seems to want some diversion other than "all the comforts of home." Neither has very good success in their ventures. Edward Clarke Lilley was particularly good in the role of Will Webb and showed the advantages of being familiar with the part, he having created it with a road company in Chicago. Mary Ann Dentler also showed to advantage in light comedy characterization.

BOSTON SONS GET PART OF MOTHER'S ESTATE

Bangor, Me., Nov. 18. — Boston persons are beneficiaries in the will of Mrs. Caroline S. Wilson, which was filed for probate here. She was the widow of Franklin Wilson, a former attorney and president of the Maine Central Railroad.

After numerous minor bequests to relatives, friends and servants, the estate is divided into three equal portions. To the two children of her son, Hayward Wilson of Boston, Roger and Franklin Wilson, is given $5,000 each, with the wish that it be used in their education. Mrs. Hayward Wilson is left $5,000.

The balance of the third portion is to be made a trust fund for Hayward Wilson, his two sons to receive $5,000 each at the age of 25 years and when they reach 30 the principal to be shared. Her automo-

ADVERTISE YOUR WANTS IN THE BOSTON AMERICAN

DAVIES FILM AMERICAN TO CORE

"Janice Meredith" to Move Premiere Here Next Monday

"Janice Meredith," the latest Cosmopolitan production starring Marion Davies, is slated to have one of the most auspicious openings ever held in this city when it makes its initial bow to local film fans next Monday at the Majestic Theatre.

"Janice Meredith" can truly be called the screen epic of the American Revolution. It embraces the entire Revolutionary era from 1776 to 1783. Such important events as the Boston Tea Party, the Ride of Paul Revere, the Crossing of the Delaware, the Battle of Trenton, Patrick Henry's Speech, Valley Forge, the Battle of Yorktown and the surrender of Cornwallis are all faithfully depicted in this big motion picture.

For magnitude, for dramatic sweep, for sheer splendor and magnificence of costumes and settings it surpasses anything heretofore accomplished by Miss Davies. And it is American to the core. Historical authorities on the period of the American Revolution have pronounced it the most authentic picture of its kind ever made.

George Washington, Benjamin Franklin, Patrick Henry, Paul Revere, Alexander Hamilton, Lafayette, and other famous characters in the founding of our great nation live again on the screen, together with Lord Cornwallis, Lord Howe, Colonel Rahl, Major Pitcairn, King Louis XVI of France and Queen Marie Antoinette.

More than 8,000 actors, including the most notable cast ever assembled for a screen production appear in "Janice Meredith."

Holbrook Blinn achieves great dramatic heights in his character of the crafty and sinister Lord Clowes; and Joseph Kilgour, who made a special trip to New York from Los Angeles to play the part of George Washington, gives a performance of this great character that rings with sincerity and great and rare dramatic ability.

Other famous actors in the picture who are stars of the screen and stage include W. C. Fields, Madlyn Arbuckle, Harrison Ford, May Voles, Tyrone Power, Helen Lee Worthing, George Nash, Georgs Siegmann, Sonnee Charters, Douglas Stevenson and Lee Beggs.

THRILLER OF 1776 IS COMING HERE

TICKET THIEVES LINKED WITH SMUGGLERS

Men Behind B. & M. Robberies Charged With Bringing Rum in From Canada

Portland, Me., Nov. 18.—Rum-running and the smuggling of merchandise from Canada have been linked with the activities of the gang, which for several years has been robbing the Boston & Maine Railroad of hundreds of thousands of dollars through the resale of stolen passenger tickets.

Investigators working on the case since the arrest of two of the alleged principals, declare they have evidence which indicates the activities of the gang extended to the Maine Central, the Bangor & Aroostook and the Grand Trunk Railroads as well as the Boston & Maine, in the theft of tickets through the debarching of passenger conductors.

While only two arrests have been made so far, a wholesale clean-up is being strived and in this round-up men who run liquor across the border as well as merchandise will be arrested.

Evidence has been unearthed to show that the gang maintained a ticket exchange service between the various railroads of New England so that it was possible to furnish transportation from Boston to any point in Maine or along the Canadian border, to purchasers of the stolen tickets.

GAS FUMES OVERCOME ANOTHER IN GARAGE

Worcester, Nov. 18.—The police department inspector and Dr. Arthur A. Nugent, police surgeon, saved the life of John Lavender, 32 years old, of No. 71 May street, after Lavender had been overcome by carbon monoxide fumes in trying to start his automobile in a garage hour's treatment Lavender was with the doors closed. After a half brought back to consciousness.

AMBASSADOR KELLOGG IS CALLED TO THE BAR

London, Nov. 18 (A.P.).—Frank B. Kellogg, the American Ambassador, was the guest of the "Benchers" of Grays Inn, where he was called to the bar.

The proceedings included the interesting ceremony of holding a trial, at which Mr. Kellogg had the honor of presiding over suppositious involving a British contractor's inability to carry out further deliveries of whiskey to a United States consignee after one of his consignments had been confiscated under the prohibition law.

Many Parties Planned to Aid Boston American Xmas Basket Fund

Mayor Quinn, Cambridge, Indorses Enterprise That Will Feed Hundreds of Needy

Mayor Edward W. Quinn of Cambridge has followed the lead of Cardinal O'Connell, Governor Cox and Major-General Edwards in endorsing the Helping Hand Christmas Basket Fund of the Boston American, which is to feed hundreds of needy families in their homes on Christmas Day.

In writing to the Christmas Fund Director, Mayor Quinn said:

"I take great pleasure in recommending your very worthy undertaking in the activity of the Boston American for raising funds to provide Christmas baskets for the less fortunate people of this community.

"I understand that last year this fund was the means of providing 55,000 people in their homes with a dinner, and that during the past ten years has fed more than 314,000. This is indeed a very worthy and charitable enterprise in behalf of the poor at this blessed season, and I bespeak for you success."

PARTIES PLANNED

Several more parties have been arranged in behalf of the fund. One of these, a concert, will be conducted on Friday evening, December 5, in Pitman Academy, Medford, by Miss Kathleen Vincent O'Hara and the talented advanced pupils of the Professional Children's Club.

Another party, in the form of a recital, will be given on Saturday morning, December 6, in the Criterion Theatre, Roxbury Crossing, under the auspices of Florence Fitzgerald School of Dancing. Free use of this theatre has been granted by the management. Miss Fitzgerald plans an entertainment of two hours, to begin at ten o'clock.

Miss Ivadell Maguire is planning to conduct two entertainments and dancing parties for the fund. She has already arranged for one on Friday evening, December 19, in Odd Fellows Hall, Malden square, Malden, Mass. Her pupils will assist in making this party a success. The other party will be held in Stoneham the date to be announced later.

Make the Indican Test and Have

—NO MORE SICK STOMACH

—NO MORE SICK HEADACHE

—NO MORE PIMPLY SKIN

Mr. Alan Small, 607 Green Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., whose condition quickly improved when he drove out the INDICAN.

Get at the cause of your headaches and your sick stomach, dull eyes, broken out skin. These are warnings that there is probably Indican in your system, and no man or woman or child can feel healthy and fine with Indican in the body.

Indican shows there is poison being pumped into your blood, and unless you stop this potent evil may cause serious sickness, perhaps rheumatism or neuritis, gastritis or maybe even long months or other diseases.

The alarming part of it is, we do not often realize the Indican is there. But when the appetite gets poor, the breath foul, when you have dizzy headaches, bilious attacks, sour bloated up stomach, gas—it's a pretty sure sign you have Indican.

Make this Test: Have a urinalysis made and if the chemist reports Indican present, start taking Carter's Little Liver Pills for a few days. Then see how all these signs start to disappear.

Carter's Little Liver Pills not only make the stomach, liver and bowels work in a fine healthy manner, but also have been found to drive the Indican out of the system.

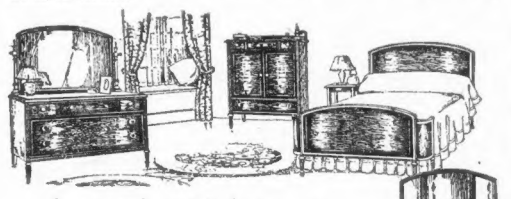
The Only Inexpensive Feature About These

Bed Room Suites Is Their Low Pricing

Good, substantially made and tastefully designed Bed Room Suites need not necessarily be expensively priced. Here we forcefully illustrate this point with the two suites below.

These suites are made from selected wood, carefully constructed and neatly finished by expert cabinet makers and their appearance is equal to much higher priced suites. We have many suites to illustrate this and those seeking fine grade suites, inexpensively priced, will be interested in our selection. Take these two Suites, for instance.



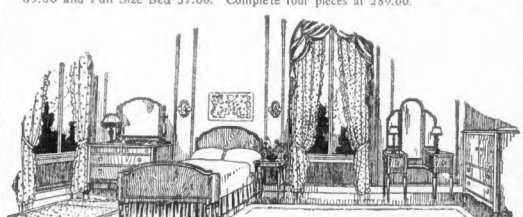
Attractive Mahogany Bed Room Suite

4 Pieces Complete at

A good value at 289.00 Illustrated above

For those who prefer mahogany the suite illustrated above is one of superior workmanship and tasteful in appearance. They are constructed from carefully selected clear grained mahogany which is used in combination with other fine cabinet woods.

The drawer fronts are of crotch veneers which give a very effective appearance. The separate pieces are priced: Bureau 78.00, Chiffonrobe 65.00, Vanity 89.00 and Full Size Bed 57.00. Complete four pieces at 289.00.



4-Piece Walnut Bed Room Suite

A Good Value at 183.00 Illustrated above

The splendid value of these suites is evident in every piece. The appearance, the workmanship and the carefully selected woods combined to give each piece the substantial qualities that mean long, satisfactory service.

Select Walnut woods are used in combination with other fine woods. The cabinet work is of the finest grade, which is responsible for their finished appearance. Large, clear mirrors feature the Bureau and Vanity. The separate pieces are priced: Bureau 58.00, Vanity 46.00, Chiffonrobe 39.00, Full Size Bed 40.00. Priced complete at 183.00.

BOSTON CLUB GIRL TO WED A 'REPORTER'

MISS OLIVIA JAMES

A wedding which will join two aristocratic families will take place soon as a result of the application for a license by Chanler A. Chapman, Harvard senior and New York clubman, to marry Miss Olivia James, daughter of Edward H. James of Concord, a niece of Henry James, novelist, and Wilson James, philosopher. Chapman gives his occupation as reporter. He is the son of John Jay Chapman of New York. Miss James is active in Boston society and is a member of exclusive clubs.

TWO FREED IN KILLING OF WRENTHAM CASHIER

Franklin, Nov. 18.—James Mingo and Manuel Pacheco, both of New Bedford, held on charges of murder in connection with the death of James E. Carpenter, aged cashier of the National Bank of Wrentham, who was shot by bandits that attempted to rob the bank November 1, were released in District Court here today, there being "no evidence."

The cases of James F. Weeks of Randolph, Alfred Bedard of Pawtucket, R. L, and Fred Bedard of Rockonk, were continued until November 26 at Walpole.

LONG WAITS ON COLD CORNERS ALSO HIT

East Boston patrons of the street car lines are up in arms against the Boston Elevated. A breakdown of service during the present cold snap brought matters to a head.

The Gladstone street-Maverick square line is the special object of protest.

Cold cars, a general collapse of service in cold weather, causing long waits on windy street corners, and overcrowded cars in the rush hours are among the items the Noddle Islanders would like to have remedied.

Officials of the road explained that the breakdown was due to the lack of a carbarn on the Gladstone street end of the line. Cars, left out in the open all night, refused to respond to the "juice" except after a lot of coaxing by the motormen.

East Boston car riders ask the Elevated to erect a barn if necessary. They also declare that the same reason may be assigned for the frigid temperature in some of the cars.

Because of the packed condition of the cars during the period from 6.30 in the morning, until 8.30 riders who wish to leave cars before entering the tunnel terminal have to fight and beg their way out, it is declared.

M'DADE WILL TAKE HIS CASE TO COURT

James H. McDade, deposed deputy trustee of Deer Island, through his counsel, Elias Field, today announced that he would appeal to the Supreme Court for a writ of mandamus as his first step in his fight to hold his job.

This appeal to the courts will be made if Attorney Field, after a perusal of the facts and the law decides that the removal of McDade has been illegal.

"I have not had time to go over all the facts of the case yet," said Mr. Field, "but I feel confident that Major McDade has a clear-cut case. No charges have been made against him. The only charges made so far have been made by the city officials against themselves, in that they say they appointed McDade illegally.

"If I find that they have removed him illegally I shall go to the Supreme Court with the fight as our first step."

McDade would make no statement or comment on his removal except to say: "I have every confidence in my attorney. I am leaving my case entirely in his hands. He and I both feel confident that I have a good case and that justice will prevail in my favor, for we think I am in the right."

McDade left Deer Island early today and went directly to the office of his attorney, where he and Attorney Field at once went into consultation on the facts of the case.

BURNING GREASE CASTS PALL OVER BACK BAY

A cloud of black smoke rose over the Back Bay today, when fire caused heavy damage to the Sea Carlo restaurant at St. Botolph street and Massachusetts avenue. A traffic jam on Massachusetts avenue caused the calling out of police reserves.

Firemen had a hard battle to get the fire under control. They were endangered by the burning grease which caused the heavy pall of smoke. The fire started in the basement.

CUT OUT EXTRA SESSION, EDGE TELLS PRESIDENT

Washington, Nov. 18.—A protest against proposal for an extra session of the new Congress after next March 4 was made today by Senator Edge, Republican, of New Jersey, who called on President Coolidge for a brief conference.

"I recognize many inequalities in the tax reduction law passed at the last session," Senator Edge said, "but of the two evils, the present law or a Summer Congress, the former seems preferable. Let's give business a chance."

BUTLER LIKELY TO STAY AS G. O. P. HEAD

Washington, Nov. 18.—There are indications that William M. Butler, newly-appointed Senator from Massachusetts, will retain also the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee. He has been here two days winding up affairs of the campaign with Roy O. West of Chicago, secretary of the national committee. They had luncheon with President Coolidge yesterday and Mr. West conferred again today with the President. Mr. Butler is a guest at the White House.

U. S. SUBMARINE V-1 HAD SATISFACTORY TRIAL RUN

Portsmouth, N. H., Nov. 18.—The U. S. submarine V-1, the largest in the navy, returned to the navy yard from her trial trip to Provincetown, officers reported the vessel stood her trials well and that only minor changes in machinery would be necessary.

Two School Contracts Let

Mayor Curley has awarded contracts for the building of two elementary schools. One in the John Marshall district, Dorchester, went to Joseph Rugo, the lowest bidder at $179,000. The other, a standard type, in the Robert Gould Shaw district, West Roxbury, to Archdeacon and Sullivan, at $91,830.

Dempsey Wants 10-Year Start on Girl He Takes as Wife

Champion Admits He's Yearning, But Is Just as Cautious as Though Arranging a Fight.

Blonde or brunette—that's not important—but about nineteen, a girl who has had courage enough to try earning her own living and grit enough to make good at it.

That's the kind of a girl Jack Dempsey, champion fighter of the world and despair of many feminine hearts, is ready to fall in love with. And at first sight, perhaps.

But Jack has seen too many upsets of "the dope" in the ring to think it safe to lay down any iron-bound rules in so important a game as marriage.

When he outlined his ideas regarding the girl he would marry, in an interview here, he was wise and cautious enough to qualify every feature he stipulated.

WANTS AGE ON HIS SIDE.

As to age, Jack thinks nineteen would be about right, since he is twenty-nine, and he thinks it a good idea for the wife to be about ten years younger than the husband. But—

"If I liked her the age wouldn't make any difference. Perhaps I'll meet a girl quite a bit older, or even younger, whom I'd like to make my wife.

"If the right girl came along and I got up nerve enough and if (this is the big 'if') she said 'Yes,' I'd make her my wife, and all the qualifications I've laid down today might have to go by the board."

LIKES PLENTY OF GRIT.

The Dempsey hat is lifted in respect to the girl who earns her own living.

"I have the highest admiration," says the fighter, "for the girl who has courage enough to get out and work. I don't mean the kind who has never left home, but the girl who has had to make her own living and makes good at it.

"I don't care what kind of work she does; whether she is an actress, artist, office worker or store clerk."

The champion is appearing with Jack Kearns, his manager, in a vaudeville skit here. Despite his willingness to outline the ideal mate, he's none too eager to get married or even engaged, he says.

DOESN'T LIKE GOSSIP.

"I'm off the ladies," said Dempsey. "Every time I'm seen walking with a pretty girl I'm reported engaged. And it's embarrassing when you consider that some of the girls I've been reported about to marry were already married, with husbands who showed no inclination of being about to die and no desire to be freed from the 'ball and chain.'

"The men who have successfully faced the great fighters of the ring talks at Hollywood where he made motion pictures for a time.

ONE DANCE A KNOCKOUT.

"Hollywood is a terrible ordeal for a fighter," he said. "I'd rather face a dozen heavyweights in the ring than go to a dance with one film beauty. It's impossible to escape the limelight and gossip there."

HERE'S THE Cchamp, ALL FUSSED UY

Until recently Jack's nose wasn't the cutest thing in the world. But surgeons have changed all that. Valentino's beard is one thing, but it isn't beautiful nor isn't permanent.

HULTMAN UPHELD ON HEAT

Acting Attorney-General Agrees Tenants of All Sorts Are Entitled to Service

The contention of Chairman Eugene C. Hultman of the special commission on the necessaries of life that landlords are obliged to furnish heat to tenants-at-will as well as to those with leases, where the furnishing of such was expressed or implied, was today upheld by Acting Attorney-General Alexander Lincoln, in a formal opinion.

Under the emergency housing laws, a landlord who wilfully or intentionally fails to furnish such heat is liable to a fine of $100 or six months in jail.

The opinion was asked by Hultman following the finding by a lower court justice, whose district includes a section where there are many moderate-priced heated apartments, that the law did not apply to tenancies-at-will.

Hultman finds that the heat law has been of great help, enabling tenants in good standing to secure reasonable redress when an irresponsible landlord refuses or neglects to furnish the services and commodities for which the tenant pays.

"Due to the scarcity of rents at less than $50 a month it is usually impossible for a tenant-at-will to move immediately if the landlord fails to furnish heat or other services in accordance with the agreement," he said.

Hultman, from the start, has acted on the assumption that the benefits of the law were intended by the Legislature for all tenants in good standing, whether they held a lease or not.

"In the thousands of complaints made to the commission concerning lack of heat and other conveniences being furnished tenants by landlords it has only been necessary to recommend court action in about ten cases," he added.

YALE IS 10 TO 6 FAVORITE FOR HARVARD GAME IN BLUE BOWL

CRIMSON IS DUE FOR REVIVAL

Always Rises to Great Heights When Opposed to the Elis

By NICK FLATLEY.

THE gentlemen who place bets on the football games have adopted the huddle system. The cold weather was responsible in part, and the cataclysms of the past two Saturdays in part, also. The boys, as they like to be called, have taken up the conference method, made famous by Princeton, and shortly after made ridiculous by Yale. They have met and grouped close to the radiators and then proceeded with lightning speed to go through with their plays. The approach of the "house dick" caused them to use the spread formation with a facility that would have turned Knute Rockne green with envy. But they did their stuff before they fled like wraiths into the icy November gales. They decided that Yale should be a 10 to 1 favorite Saturday, and unanimously voted not to consider odds longer than 10 to 6. The events of the two recent weekends have convinced the boys that this is going to be be a cold, hard Winter.

* * *

THE bunch experts already believe that Harvard can lick Yale. They have witnessed two startling upsets in the exclusive Big Three Circle. They naturally think that a third one will round out a perfect "hunch" year. And we don't mind remarking that a Yale defeat in the Bowl Saturday would be all of that and then some. Harvard will have all the psychology of the occasion, regardless of what backs and linesmen Bob Fisher produces. It's a great year for shortgrudges. The Yale team will naturally be overconfident, no matter what the coaches do to preserve the well known fighting spirit. Harvard always plays its best game against the Blue, just as Yale rises to ultimate heights with Princeton, as the Tigers arrive at the pinnacle for the Crimson clash. The Harvard players will be desperate enough to have an afternoon of miracle stuff. Each big team has risen once a season, and the Crimson turn is still to come.

* * *

YALE hasn't beaten Harvard in the Bowl since 1916, and was lucky to do it then. Eddie Casey ran almost the length of the field for a touchdown, which meant victory, but the ball was brought back because there was tripping in the line. Before that, there hadn't been a New Haven victory since 1909. Great Yale teams were beaten by supposedly poor Harvard teams with great regularity. Harvard goes to the Bowl with a chronic will light in its eye; Yale seldom rises to any spectacular heights on its own gridiron.

* * *

YALE has by far the better team, on the season's record. The Crimson had just one clash of prominence, in the Dartmouth game. After that contest, the Green athletes were convinced that Harvard was stronger than the Tad Jones outfit. But that was a long time ago. Harvard has slipped off steadily since, while the Yale improvement has been fast and sure. The Princeton upheaval goes to show that a team cannot be at the peak of condition over two especially tough and nervous Saturdays. On the other hand, Dartmouth carried on against Yale and Harvard on successive weekends, while Notre Dame rolled along right on each succeeding Saturdays. The more you ponder on the matter, the more you are convinced that there's absolutely no way of telling what a football team will do. Which is the conclusion the "boys" reached in their conferences. They're not at all anxious to take much of that 10 to 6, either.

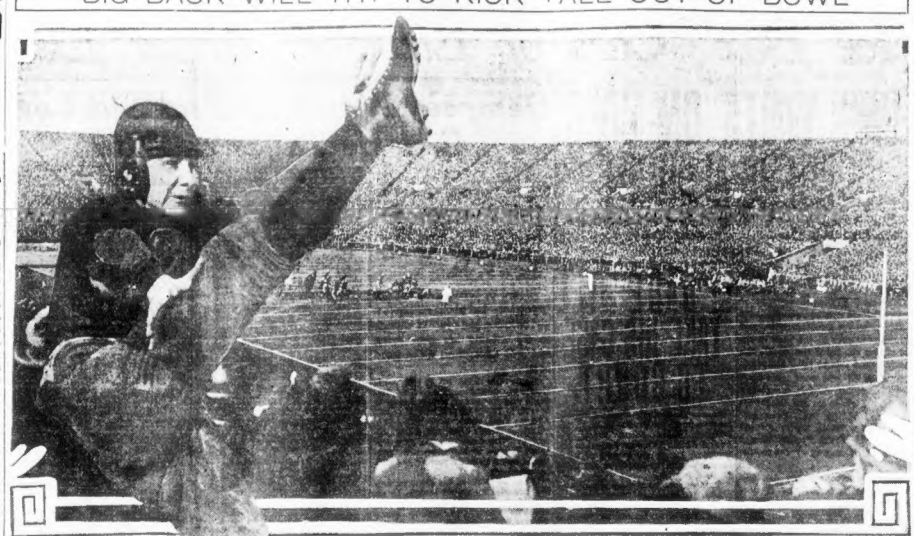
* * *

THE Harvard coaches haven't despaired. They know they have enough power to produce a good football team, and they're hoping that the young men who constitute said power can rise to Saturday's occasion. Harvard, when you get right down to analysis of the situation, hasn't the same kind of material that the other big colleges get. That could start an endless debate, of course, but it whittles down to it, just the same.

DUNDEE SAILS FOR BOUTS IN EUROPE

New York, Nov. 18.—On the eve of sailing for Europe Johnny Dundee, who recently resigned his featherweight championship, declared today that he may attempt to reclaim the title upon his return from abroad. Dundee said that he intended to take part in several bouts in Europe and if convinced that he could make the featherweight limit of 126 pounds and be at his best would re-enter the class.

BIG BACK WILL TRY TO KICK YALE OUT OF BOWL



This is the Big Blue Bowl, where 90,000 fans will watch the Yale-Harvard classic Saturday. The kicker is Erwin Gehrke sturdy Crimson fullback, whose educated toe will play a big part in the Fisher plan of campaign.

HARVARD TAKES TO STADIUM IN SPITE OF COLD

Bob Fisher planned a light workout for the Harvard eleven this afternoon in order to avoid injuries to his players, most of whom are nursing strains and bruises from the successive games with Princeton and Brown.

The continued cold weather it was figured might send the team indoors to the baseball cage this afternoon, but the fact that Harvard has shown a need of intensive drilling probably will influence the coaches to shift the scene of activity to the stadium.

In spite of pessimistic statements here concerning Harvard's condition, it is felt that the team will round to at time for Saturday's game.

Two-Hour Workout for Yale; Ends Battered

New Haven, Ct., Nov. 18.—Claiming to look on the Harvard game as a more critical test than Princeton offered, the Yale coaches prepared today to send a slightly battered varsity squad through a two-hour session at top speed. The official theory here is that Princeton failed to gain last Saturday because of poor physical condition, while Harvard is believed to be in excellent shape for the impending game with the Eli.

Both varsity ends, Lisman and Gill, report today somewhat the worse for the Princeton struggle, Lisman is ready to resume his position, but it is feared that Gill has a broken hand and will not be able to appear against Harvard. Bingham, varsity end, before being laid low by injuries, is again somut, however. He is competing with Cottle for the 1925 captaincy and plans to make the Harvard game an all- effort.

'SMOKY' HARRIS JOINS BRUINS' ICE OUTFIT

Fred "Smokey" Harris, 180 pounds spread over six feet, will make his Boston hockey debut against the Saskatoon Shooks at the Arena Thanksgiving night, when he plays left wing for the Boston professional team, the Bruins.

After riding six days from Portland, Ore., "Smokey" made his debut on runners yesterday. So eager was the big fellow to cut loose that Manager Art Ross was forced many times to caution him.

Manager Ross is still awaiting the arrival of four men. Nothing has been heard from Bobbie Rowe and Lloyd Cook from the Pacific coast nor Hill and Galbraith, former Eveleth players.

* * *

VENO MAY NOT PLAY HERE.

There is a prospect that the B. A. A. will not have the services of Normie Shay and Shorty Veno this Winter. Just as Captain Art Smith and Manager Tom Kanaly were lining up their forces on paper word came from New Haven that Veno was reluctant to commute between here and New Haven for the pleasure of playing hockey.

Shay conducts a sporting goods house in New Haven and with the Christmas season at the corner he feels that his constant presence on the job is demanded. Connie usually believes though, that after Christmas Shay will be in a position to play here.

GET LINE ON B. A. A. TONIGHT.

Practice tonight will no doubt a line on the B. A. A. material.

Manager George V. Brown, who is attending the A. A. U. convention in Atlantic City, hopes to determine whether New York and Pittsburgh will be members of the Eastern group before he returns here Thursday morning.

Former B. U. Star Sold For $50,000 To Athletics

Philadelphia, Nov. 18.—Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia American League Baseball Club, announced the completion of a deal by which Gordon S. Cochrane, star catcher of the Portland club, Pacific Coast League, comes to the Athletics in exchange for five players and a "cash consideration." Mr. Mack declined to state the amount of cash involved, but reports from other sources said it was $50,000.

Benny Burns and Bob Hasty, pitchers; Harry Rwonda, infielder; Ollie Shirling, outfielder, and Charles Rowland, catcher, are the players who will go to Portland in the deal.

Several major league magnates were said to have made flattering offers for the Pacific Coast star, whose home is in Bridgewater, Mass. Cochrane, who was graduated from Boston University, gained fame as a catcher while still in college. During the past season he played in ninety-nine games for Portland, pounding the ball for a batting average of .338. He is twenty-one years old.

MONTGOMERY BOUT WITH ANDERSON OFF

The Boxing Commission called off the bout between Sully Montgomery, former Center football star, and Lee Anderson on the grounds that the boys weren't properly matched. They were to meet at the Commercial Club Friday.

OBERLANDER DENIES WEST POINT AMBITION

Hanover, N. H., Nov. 18.— Andie Oberlander, star Dartmouth right halfback, emphatically denied that he had any intention of transferring to West Point or any other institution.

Winer Rejoins Tufts Squad

Sam Winer has rejoined the Tufts football team and will face the Mass. Aggies Saturday, starting at his regular fullback position.

VERMONT MAY GIVE EAGLES GOOD RUN

The Boston College-Vermont game, which ordinarily would be no more than a final workout for the Eagle team before the last game of the season with Holy Cross, is likely to prove much of a hard fight. The reasons are injuries sustained by several stars in the Centenary game.

Darling's knee, none to good when the Eagle started against the "Gentlemen," is in bad shape, and it was thought today that he might possibly be unable to play in the Holy Cross game. Darling's loss would mean a big difference in the working of the team and would seriously threaten the Eagle's chances of defeating the Purple.

The Cronin brothers, a fine pair of battering rams, each is suffering slight injuries, and although there is little doubt that they will be ready for the Holy Cross game, they may not be risked in the battle with Vermont.

It is very likely that several new faces will appear under Eagle headgear when B. C. plays its semi-final game. Tom O'Brien and Al O'Neal will be duplicates by two of the more prominent subs. Dick Hardy, a Chicago boy who can throw his two hundred pounds against a line with telling effect, is the likely choice for O'Brien's place. Marty Whelan is being talked of for one of the wing positions.

The Eagle players are rather disappointed over the outcome of the Centenary game, but are by no means dejected. They feel that "Pat" McMillan had a team worthy of any foe. They will spend their energies in getting ready for the biggest game of the year with Holy Cross, and are fully determined to win.

HURLBERT IS ELECTED HEAD OF A. A. U.

Atlantic City, N. J. Nov. 18 (A.P.)—The Amateur Athletic Union at its closing session today, elected Murray Hulbert of New York as president to succeed William C. Prout of Boston, selected Pittsburgh as the 1925 convention city and approved two sporting records, one by Louis Clarke and the other by Charley Paddock, after a spirited controversy.

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 18 (A.P.)—Twenty-eight awards of national championship events for 1924 in seven different branches of sport coming under its jurisdiction were made by the convention of the Amateur Athletic Union. Of this number, 15 went to the East, seven to the far West, five to the Middle West and one to the South.

Track—Senior and junior outdoor; San Francisco; senior indoor, Louisville; junior indoor, probably New Boston garnered two championships, the marathon and senior boxing championships.

The events were distributed as follows:

York; junior and senior cross-country, 10-mile and 15-mile runs, 7-mile walk, 3-mile steeplechase, all to Metropolitan Association, New York; marathon (full distance), Boston; pentathlon, Los Angeles; women's senior Pasadena, Cal.; women's junior, probably Newark.

HUB GETS BOXING.

Boxing—Senior, Boston; junior, Baltimore.

Basketball—Senior, Kansas City, junior Los Angeles.

The national wrestling championships will go to the Oklahoma A. and M. College, with the recommendation that the 1926 award be given to the Oregon Agricultural College, unsuccessful bidder for next year's events. The junior volley ball tournament probably will go to Buffalo.

THIRTEEN NEW RECORDS.

Thirteen new American outdoor track and field records accepted after featured by the 200-metre mark of 22 9-10 seconds, made by Jackson School of the New York A. C. in the final Olympic tryouts at Cambridge, and the high jump record of 6 feet 8¼ inches by Harold Osborn of the Illinois A. C., made at Urbana, Ill., May 27. Both of these performances also will stand as world records.

The other outdoor marks follow: 200 metres around one turn, 21¼ seconds, by Frank T. Evans, Jr., Illinois University, at Urbana, Ill., May 27; 220 yards around one turn, 21 1-5 seconds, by F. T. Evans, Jr., Illinois, at Urbana, Ill., May 16; 400 metres, 48 1-10 seconds, by H. A. Robertson, Boston A. A., and J. Coard Taylor, New York A. C., at Chicago, September 14.

JOHNSON BUYS OAKLAND; TO QUIT MAJORS

Oakland, Cal., Nov. 18.—The Oakland Club in the Pacific Coast baseball league changed hands today, passing into the ownership of Walter Johnson, pitching ace of the Washington Americans, and George Weiss, owner of the New Haven club in the Eastern League, it was announced here by J. Cal. Ewing, retiring Oakland owner.

The price paid is said to be $383,000.

Washington, Nov. 18.—Clark Griffith, president of the Washington baseball club, said he would consent to Walter Johnson leaving the team if he felt assured the veteran pitcher "had negotiated a successful deal in Oakland."

Under rules of the major league, for a player to retire from a club he must have the consent of the management of his own club and of all others of the two leagues. Griffith said he felt that if he waived his claim on Johnson none of the other club managements would.

Griffith said he had talked the proposition over with Johnson before the latter left for his home in Kansas, and Johnson had then indicated he wished to purchase and manage a minor league club.

MEXICAN FOE OF DEMPSEY STOPS FULTON QUICKLY

Los Angeles, Nov. 18.—Tony Fuente, Mexican heavyweight title contender, was no match for Fred Fulton, Minnesota giant-killer.

Fuente started the fight by driving Fulton into a neutral corner and flooring him with a chop to the jaw. Fulton took a count of nine and once again Fuente connected with the giant's huge chin and Fulton went down nine more seconds.

Another fault, this time in the direction of the midriff, and Fulton rolled over and the referee tolled him out.

As Fulton groaned on the floor the fans shrieked cries of "Fake, fake," and cushions and pop bottles whizzed down toward Fulton.

None of Fuente's blows had the semblance of registering the terrific punishment Fulton appeared to be suffering.

NORA LEE

A Story of Flaming Youth

Heart and Soul of 1924 Flapper Laid Bare in Best Story by Author of "Chickie"

START THE STORY HERE TODAY

Margaret Neil, daughter of Will Lee, storekeeper. His dissolute habits soon made her miserable. The night he raised his hand to his twenty-year-old child in a drunken rage she slipped from his home with her baby. Margaret supported her daughter by teaching school in several villages, finally settling in Fairdale, where she met Andrew and they fell in love. But he was tied to an invalid wife and Margaret refused to let him leave her. Nora at 17 fell in love with Dane Berrick. Andrew's wife recovers and attempts him with a pistol. He says good by to Nora Lee and gives her a packet of bonds. Andrew is killed in an auto accident, and his widow demands the bonds of Nora. Nora meets Maxwell Reed, who makes love to her. Margaret's cherished letters from Andrew disappear. Nora bids Dane goodby.

NOW CONTINUE THE STORY

MARGARET was sitting up in bed, propped by pillows. Her beautiful eyes were closed. A waxy pallor framed the bluish, parted lips—a waxy gleam made her nose and cheeks unearthly in their delicacy. Her hand turned. She murmured faintly: "Gypsy girl——"

[illegible]

Blue Lips

[illegible]

Memories

She remembered a day in the [illegible] when she had gone softly [illegible] and wanted to go [illegible] Margaret had said: "You don't care for me, Miss Margaret, you don't care if I die—[illegible]"

Margaret had knelt in the snow beside the girl, saying little [illegible] she [illegible] brothers were here. That would be better.

She remembered the excited thrill [illegible] the mystery "Brothers and sisters! Oh, you people have I been [illegible]"

"No—my darling, but I wish you had. I have so wished this."

Once, later, after Nora Lee had gone [illegible] and wanted to go [illegible] at night, Margaret said [illegible] "Too bad your brother [illegible]

She [illegible] "Oh, mother—you're not [illegible] like this before. Did you have another child? Oh, did I have a brother?"

"You are my only little one. I should have had brothers for you. Because that would have made you happier, my Nora Lee."

Nora Lee had answered unfeelingly: "Well—yes. I do wish I had a few."

Margaret smiled and coming over slipped her arm about her waist. "I have tried to make things up to you. Tell me, have I failed so?"

Eternal Love

She recalled now the look of [illegible] ing love in Margaret's face; there [illegible] rushed through her thoughts [illegible] thousand pictures. Margaret was [illegible] ways like this, wringing her heart dry of joy as a mother can that her child might go a laughing way.

She saw Margaret as a girl of 23 when Andrew stood that first day at the redwood tree. He had come forward with such a pleading eager [illegible] and caught both of Margaret's hands. Margaret's whole being grew bright. She trembled.

"My mother loved Andrew—oh, [illegible] death in short—just a bit short Tomorrow you will see!"

She kept whispering things like this and clasping her mother's hand in the wrench that were past she had feared, often waking up at night. She had run into the dressing room at school and fought against dream [illegible] sons.

But now, looking into Margaret's waxen face, Nora Lee knew she would do as she hardened with the bitterest obstinacy life can know—the obstinacy of frantic love that will not see the claiming hands of death.

The Bonds Again

Margaret regarded her with terrible and gentle sorrow. She said quietly: "You must have the bonds changed, Nora Lee. Ask Dr. Ross."

"There is no hurry about that, mother dear, though I suppose we should get better interest. What made you think of such a funny thing. I thought that you were sleeping."

"Is it night, yet?"

"It is nearly 6—"

Margaret's head sank back on the pillow. Her breath was less un evenly, her hand lay quiet.

When the nurse came to the bed, Nora Lee smiled: "She is better, isn't she?"

"A little—" She motioned to Nora Lee. "Perhaps she will sleep. Why don't you rest a little?" I fixed some things there I'd keep up my strength, Miss Meadows."

Nora Lee turned to her with angry, astonished eyes. "The doctor says she will get better, . . ."

"It will be a long, hard fight."

She grew even harder at this. A long, hard fight! What if it took years?

ANSWER TO SATURDAY'S

FAMOUS FIRSTS

By Mark Stuyvesant

THERE was a great stir in Naples. All roads seemed to lead to one place and that place the house of Baptista Porta. Crowds were flocking there to see the picture he "painted" with lights.

There, in the middle of the sixteenth century, about 1569, the camera obscura—of which our hand camera is the direct descendant—came into being.

The final experiment was simple. A room was darkened and light was let in through a single small hole in the window shutter. When the sun shone brightly a faint image of the external objects upon which the window looked was seen upon the white surface of screen or wall opposite.

Baptista Porta put a double convex glass lens in the aperture of the shutter, and outside he placed a mirror in such a position as to receive rays of light and reflect them through the lens.

Our camera today is a miniature camera obscura, being a well-made box having lenses at one end and ground glass at the other. But it has required many inventions, major and minor, to make it the never-failing recorder of pictures, even in the hands of the rankest amateur.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. F. X. Mahoney

Boston Health Commissioner

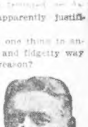
ARE you "nervous"?

Do you experience keen pleasure from absurdly slight causes?

Do you become irritated or depressed without apparently justifiable reason?

Do you flit from one thing to another in a restless and fidgetty way without rhyme or reason?

Then you will classify as either an hysteric or a neurasthenic. In both cases you are called "nervous." In either case, you are not of that slow, deliberate, more or less dull and stolid type that people call "normal" or well-balanced."



Dr. Mahoney.

But don't give yourself unnecessary worry about yourself on this score.

Of course either extreme, when the extremes come, may be a passing phase due to a bad stomach, a sluggish liver or torpid bowels, and may be relieved by a dose of salts and a day of fasting.

In nervous people the nervous system serves to co-ordinate and out of proportion to the other systems that combined make the individual. Such an "unbalanced" condition is [illegible] and often the "victim" of it may take wonders. [illegible] realize that he or she is like other men.

All great scientists, inventors, statesmen, diplomats, financiers and artists have been nervous in the active sense defined.

They have done great things because their nervous system has been of that keen type by which they could think, feel and visualize great things.

Nervous people are ruled by the "mind delves matter" law. Also they are the heroes in the strife.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

What corrective measures would you recommend for a boy who refuses to work? He will be 21 in a few weeks.

You are not compelled to support a child after he becomes of legal age. It is by giving him to understand that he is responsible for the care of his own children that there are many drastic measures which you could take.

Is there any Long-In Hospital where the expense is not too great? I want to go to a good place.

MRS. E. W.

Boston.

The Boston Lying-In Hospital on Longwood Ave., is a good place for you. Also you could probably arrange to go to the Boston City Hospital or the N. E. Hospital for Women and Children. The superintendent of these hospitals will tell you the expense.

Is it a definitely proven fact that cancer is not contagious? Am almost crazy worrying because I have been taking care of someone who died of it. Please tell me the truth.

J. D. L.

Boston.

The real truth is that it has been definitely established that cancer is not contagious. There is no record of a doctor or nurse having contracted it from a patient.

FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

You are likely to enjoy some reduction of your Federal taxes without having to wait until Congress meets in December of next year.

* * *

If any one thing more than all others won votes for President Coolidge, it was his insistent fight to protect taxpayers' pockets. The politicians now know that the country demands every possible lightening of their tax burden. If any of them still have any doubts they are likely to be convinced within the next few weeks. The indications are that public clamor will compel either the administration or the opposition to bring relief measures forward at the impending session.

Should no action be taken before adjournment, then there is every probability that a special session will be demanded and called.

* * *

Secretary Mellon told me, after he first brought to mind his plan, that he didn't want half-way measures; he wanted Congress either to adopt his general policy or reject it entirely. After his rather disappointing experience with the politicians who make up the present Congress, he may be reasoning that satisfactory action is not to be expected from them notwithstanding the tempes shown by the electorate on November fourth.

Mr. Mellon is a calm, deliberative individual. He may fear that full justice would not be done even by the reconstructed Congress at a short special session. President Coolidge is so constituted that he doubtless would prefer not to have to call a special session of our legislators. But both he and Mr. Mellon may find the pressure of circumstances irresistible.

* * *

There are weighty reasons for giving the country definite tax ticket before 1926.

There are reasons apart from the taxes, too—one just strongly in my mind—why I don't see why business wants to pay as little as necessary and wants to know specifically just how much will be exacted.

* * *

Everything points to very substantial business expansion. If the demand for commodities of all kinds greatly increases, the tendency will be for prices to rise.

A revising of corporation as well as individual tax rates should, and probably would, do something to modify the rising of prices.

* * *

Again, anything approaching a banker boom will call for large amounts of credit and capital. If those possessing the means to invest are to invest in corporations to receive proper encouragement from our tax lawyers—that is to say, if the highest surtaxes are fixed in accordance with Mellon's plan—then it should be relatively easy to raise all capital needed by our business enterprises.

* * *

Lower rates are needed quite as much in the interest of those of modest income as in the interest of those earning larger incomes.

DRINK WATER IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a Tablespoonful of Jad Salts if Back Pains or Acids Irritate

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges.

To help neutralize irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

PUBLIC VIEW OF TAX LISTS CURTAILED

Washington Says Revenue Collectors Must Have Time for Other Work

Washington, Nov. 18.—Internal revenue collectors were instructed today by Commissioner Blair to restrict public inspection of income tax lists to not more than three days a week and not more than three hours on any one day.

Declaring it had been demonstrated there are many who desire to use the lists for no obvious reason, Mr. Blair said measures had to be adopted which would relieve the collectors' offices to function without delays incident to a wide inquiry while the books by everyone who so desired.

In recommending the restricted hours for inspection Mr. Blair left it to individual collectors to name the time for their offices and added: "You may find that your office could modify the days and hours, either by increasing or decreasing, and the work necessary for each day will perform should be the governing factor."

Requests from individuals for lists of persons paying taxes in excess of $5,000 or any other given amount will be disregarded, the ruling said. Blanket requests from applicants who desire information as to amounts paid by certain classes of persons engaged in similar industries without specifying the names of the persons or concerns, can of course be complied with unless the names of the taxpayers are given. This applies to any other request of a similar nature.

At the Department of Justice it was said a decision would be announced soon as to when the test case on publication of tax returns would be brought.

THREE NEW PRIZES FOR HARVARD STUDENTS

Three new prizes for Harvard students are announced in the new University catalogue to be issued soon.

The member of the junior class in the college who shows the greatest promise among undergraduates concentrating in history and literature will be awarded $50. The Menorah Society of the University offers $100 for the best essay written by an undergraduate on a subject connected with the work and achievement of the Jewish people. A suitably engraved book will be awarded to the student who receives the highest mark in the mid-year examination in elementary German and who is not in need of financial assistance and so ineligible to compete for the Elizabeth Wilder prize. The last will be known as the Carl Schutz prize.

CINCINNATI BOY HEAD OF HARVARD SOPHOMORES

The following officers of the Harvard sophomore class have been elected, according to an announcement by the Student Council: President, B. L. Kilgour of Cincinnati, O.; vice-president, Alfred Henry Miller of Dorchester; secretary-treasurer, Frederick Vanderbilt Field of Lenox.

Due to slowness in voting, the balloting, which was to have closed Saturday night, was held open until last night. The necessary 50 per cent. vote has not yet been cast in the junior election, so the Student Council is continuing to hold balloting open today.

GIRL NOT MISSING; WAS ARRANGING WEDDING

While Boston police were searching for Miss Adelaide M. Spindler, eighteen years old, of No. 1686 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge, the young lady was in her sweetheart, Walter A. Devine, twentyfive years old, a petty officer in the Navy, were planning their wedding.

Members of the bride's family did not suspect the romance that had blossomed into love for many months, and were greatly surprised when their daughter appeared, after being missing for forty-four hours, and told of the approaching marriage.

The parents approved of the match and the couple secured a license and a waiver of the five-day law and were married by a justice of the peace.

Don't Sink the Battleship Until the People Are Heard

Secretary of the Navy Wilbur still has time to save the Washington from destruction.

He can still send a wireless ordering the navy tugs to bring her back to the League Island Navy Yard in the Delaware River.

He can still take this action on his own initiative, regardless of the legal action being taken by a patriotic American citizen in the District of Columbia Court of Appeals to restrain the Secretary of the Navy from destroying a thirty-five-million-dollar American battleship.

There is one subject on which all Americans feel and think alike. It is the navy. If this destruction is not halted, and if the largest and most powerful fighting unit in the American navy is willfully thrown away as target practice for bombing airplanes and floating mines merely to satisfy the desire of England and Japan to have our weakened sea defence made still more impotent—if this is allowed to happen, we say, neither Mr. Wilbur nor any man who shares the responsibility with him will be able to withstand the storm of national indignation.

Calmly and dispassionately, what are the facts?

The Washington was the most splendid of the fruits of a naval policy adopted by successive American Congresses during the World War, designed to make America supreme upon the sea and render us for all time safe against aggression.

The war over, we were tricked into a Naval Disarmament Conference. At this conference the American delegates, Hughes, Root, Lodge and Underwood, agreed to cut the American Navy down to the British standard, leaving the position of the United States, Great Britain and Japan approximately in the ratio of 5-5-3.

In theory it was a general disarmament. In practice, we did all the disarming. We had thirteen large capital ships (one of them the Washington) under construction, most of them nearing completion. We agreed to destroy not merely thirteen, but twenty-six capital ships; Great Britain and Japan destroyed a corresponding number of blueprints vessels which they might possibly have built in the future.

In simple words, we came out of that Naval Disarmament Conference MINUS the naval superiority with which we went into it, a superiority that would have made us the most powerful nation on the sea for ten years. Those are and will continue to be the ten most troubled and dangerous years in the world's history.

The Hearst newspapers solemnly warned and protested and fought against the naval disarmament treaty. We now solemnly warn and protest and intend to fight against the further carrying out of the terms of that treaty until the other nations involved have shown their good faith.

Already we have done so much and England and Japan have done so little that, in the opinion of naval officers who dare express opinions, the ratio is no longer 5-5-3, but 5-3-3 or 5-2-3. England is 5, Japan is 3 and we are 2, possibly 3. According to one naval expert, William B. Shearer, who is patriotically proceeding against Secretary Wilbur in the Washington courts, the War College at Newport figures that in a fight with the British fleet the American battle fleet would be completely destroyed in a time ranging from forty minutes to two hours. We MIGHT last two hours.

The whole spirit of the naval disarmament treaty, our naval authorities declare, is violated by the failure of Great Britain to scrap battleships that she was obligated to destroy and by Great Britain's refusal to "permit" us to spend $6,500,000 of our own money to elevate the guns in our battleships so that they will shoot as far as the British guns. There is a great lack of information as to just what Japan is doing in the matter of battleship construction and destruction, but we do know that she has seventeen airplane factories running day and night, creating an air fleet that may upset the whole established balance of sea power.

Even under the strictest construction of the disarmament treaty the Washington need not be destroyed until next February 17. Why does Mr. Wilbur order her towed away to be sunk off the Virginia Capes three months earlier, on November 17?

Why this haste to be rid of an American battleship two weeks before the assembling of Congress, where the representatives of the people can have an opportunity to discuss and investigate this matter, and its bearing upon the national safety? Mr. Shearer wants the Washington converted into an airplane carrier, a type of naval auxiliary in which we are lamentably weak. Why not? In any case, why must Mr. Wilbur and Mr. Hughes have the Washington sunk TODAY?

Under his oath of office the prime duty of the Secretary of the Navy is to preserve and foster the navy's strength, not to weaken it. The summary destruction of the Washington is wrong and indefensible in morals and unnecessary in law. Secretary Wilbur is under no obligation to anybody or any nation to sink the Washington this week. He ought to feel under the strongest kind of obligation to bring her back to the Philadelphia Navy Yard and give the people and Congress a chance to be heard.

Here's a Real Fight

It Would Not Suit Our Champions

You are reminded of Benvenuto Cellini and the other old fighters when you read of a duel in Budapest between Kovacs, Hungarian fencing champion, and Puliti, champion of Italy.

The men fought stripped to the waist. The Italian demanded heavy pointed swords, no bandages and "stabbing permitted."

But the seconds insisted upon bandages for wrists and throats to protect the great blood vessels. Official physicians were on hand.

The duel lasted eighteen rounds, three minutes rest between. Kovacs, the Hungarian, fought with his left hand and was hard to touch. After three hours' fighting the duel ended, and Puliti said he was sorry he had insulted so good a man as Kovacs. Hungary is now the only country that legalizes duelling, and other countries wink at it.

That kind of fighting, with real cuts, and death back of every "lunge," would not suit our "Heroes of the Squared Circle." They might as well go to war and be done with it.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

BEHOLD a youth unto me, saying:

* * *

"Alas, my mother, wherefore have all the kisses of women become as one kiss unto me—and that, one wearisome.

* * *

"Go to! I would depart for Russia, where it hath been decreed that there shall be more kissing nor giving of kisses!

Helen Rowland

* * *

"For the fairest of lips have become as ashes of roses, the sweetest of smiles hath no power to move me, and the "kiss with a kick" is no more!"

* * *

But, I admonished him, saying:

"My son, be not without reason! For lo, a kiss is the wine of love!

* * *

"But, doth not wine cease to be a stimulant when it is diluted with water, and becometh a daily diet.

* * *

"Yea, verily, even a potent drug loseth its power when it becometh a habit." And were radium as abundant as sand and roses as common as dandelions, WHO would covet them or find them desirables.

* * *

"Go to! There be many varieties of kisses, the kiss that thrilleth and the kiss that weareth; the kiss of friendship, the kiss of experiment, the kiss of mischief, the kiss of curiosity, the kiss of duty and the kiss of habit.

* * *

"But the sweetest of all kisses is the FIRST kiss; and the deadliest of all kisses is the kiss of habit.

* * *

"Then, I charge thee, of thou wouldst find flavor in a kiss be niggardly of thy kisses, and waste them not upon the fair and unfair alike. For sentiment, like unto perfume, loseth its strength when too often aired.

* * *

"Doth a damsel seek to kiss thee against thy will. I charge thee resist her with all thy strength, and all thy heart, and all thy diplomacy. Yea, be courteous, but unfraternize, and suffer her not to practice thee.

* * *

"If injure thee, keep far from moonlight strolls and lucky lanes, a-tetes, and afternoon teas with grass-widows. Let no woman persuade thee, nor flappers persuade her thee; for the first are exceeding wily and the second exceeding bold. And all their pettings lead to the kiss of deadliness! And what chance hath a weak and tender man against their cunnings.

* * *

"Verily, verily, Russia is right! For of kissing and the giving of kisses, there is too much! And a little total abstinence from wine or of love is a refreshing thing."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Child Labor Amendment.

Editor Boston American:

In your edition of November 14 it was stated that the so-called Child Labor Amendment was defeated mainly by the influence of Cardinal O'Connell. I am sure that His Eminence the Cardinal would make no such claim. He would be the first to say that the influence of all the intelligent citizens of the State who saw through the tricky verbiage of the amendment was what caused its defeat. The statement was also made that the Cardinal looks upon the bill as threatening national interference with parochial schools. Doubtless he does—but not with parochial schools only—with all schools, with all training and with all education, in fact with all the freedom of worship itself. That together with the blow His Eminence saw aimed by the amendment at parental rights, citizen's rights and State rights, was the reason for his opposition. As your paper printed but the half truth, will you kindly give the correct reason the publication deserves?

Family of Ten in Need

Helping Hand Editor:

We are a family of ten. My father is sick and my mother works nights and makes $11 a week. My little sister, eight years old, has no clothing so she can go to school. I am eighteen and need a coat; also my brother, thirteen, has no shoes. My mother needs dresses to go to work. She can make over things, so please do not forget us.

MAY D.

Made Happy

Helping Hand Editor:

I want to thank you for sending my address to a good, kind mother, Mrs. G. D., Brockton, and please let her know through your column how happy she has made the children and myself.

Montpelier, Vt. Mrs. L. S.

Need Coal

Helping Hand Editor:

Has any of your readers work for a good honest reliable man? He is willing to do anything. There are nine in my family, and we need coal and other things for Winter. We are pretty hard up, and I hope through your wonderful column my husband can get some kind of employment.

MRS. G. R.

Wants Baby Clothes

Helping Hand Editor:

I am a poor woman with five little ones, three girls, eleven, nine and seven, and two boys, three and five, and expect another child in the Spring. I have no baby clothes, sheets nor blankets. The girls need dresses and the boys coats. I would be very grateful to any of the readers who could help me.

MRS. M. J. D.

Inventor In Need

Helping Hand Editor:

I am a veteran of two wars, Spanish and World War, in very poor physical condition. I want to find someone who will take one-half interest in an invention and patent rights, if they will pay for the securing of the patent rights, which have been examined and found O. K. I have no money to secure them, or even to advertise. I am just living from hand to mouth, at times barely existing. I am assured immediate sales of the invention as soon as manufactured. It takes very little money for manufacturing, as it is almost wholly an assembling proposition and an absolute necessity. My offer is not for brokers, only for someone who would be interested for themselves.

EX-SERVICE MAN, Inventor.

Aged Woman Wants Home

Helping Hand Editor:

I am an old woman, seventy-six, and I want a home. I am not asking for charity, as I can help in make that home more comfortable. When folks get older, younger folks don't want them. I am alone in the world—no one to go to. I would like to keep house for some good honest man who needed the help of a decent Protestant woman. I can do lots of work, but not heavy work.

MRS. S. E. D.

Loves Music

Helping Hand Editor:

I am a little girl eleven years of age. I earn the price of my piano lessons taking care of the neighbors' babies and running errands. I have always loved music, but my father is dead and we being poor I never had any chance. If any of the kind readers had a piano that they have no more use for, I would be very glad and thankful if they would give it to me.

MARY K.

Invalid Needs Bathrobe

Helping Hand Editor:

I wonder if some one would help me. I am an invalid not able to work. Would like to get a warm bathrobe, size 42 or 44. I am obliged to be in bed outdoors all the time. I also need warm slippers, size 6. I would be so thankful for these things. I have small children and cannot make ends meet.

WIRELESS AND PEACE OF THE WORLD

By DR. FRANK CRANE

SIR OLIVER LODGE, at Wembley the other day, hailed wireless as an important factor in coming world peace.

He said it would be a weapon of peace because it would promote a better understanding.

This rests upon the fact that the reasons why nations make war upon one another is because they do not understand each other.

The more familiar the people of one nation are with another, the less desire they have to go out and fight with that other nation.

Sir Oliver Lodge says that, as the ether welded the world together in a cosmic system of law and order, so will the radio weld humanity together so that it can face its common foes in a spirit of co-operation and mutual trust.

Humanity has enough fighting to do with the opposition of Nature and with the many forces that contend against its life upon the planet. There is no need for one group of men to set out to fight another group.

It will be found that all the progress in the world has been made not by war, but in spite of war. Real progress is by co-operation.

All the inventions that have united humanity and increased transportation and communication have been agents for unity and peace. It remains for the politicians to discover some means by which the political units or nations can live together in peace, that is, a way in which they can co-operate against the forces of Nature and help each other instead of hindering each other.

There is no doubt that radio contains great possibilities for world unity. It is one of the methods of communication by which the various means of isolation are combatted. The commonwealth of nations, often called the British Empire, are peaceably disposed, he says, and they, with their cousins across the Atlantic, constituting the same race, speaking the same language, are now welded together by this new means of communication. If they set their face to the right, and are determined to preserve peace in the world, they will succeed.

The Anglo-Saxons, represented by the English and the Americans, are the most considerable forces in the world both in intelligence and enterprise. Whatever welds them together will be welcome and whatever alienates them must be deplorable.

The ambitions and vanities of nations must give way before the common interest of all and the radio will be a considerable aid in that direction.

ARGUMENTS FOR AND AGAINST ESPERANTO

By Garrett P. Serviss.

Noted Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

A GENTLEMAN in Chicago, who has been reading, writing and speaking Esperanto for fifteen years, and with constantly increasing satisfaction, is displeased by what I recently said about that artificial language in connection with a proposal to "put it on the air" as an aid to the diffusion of scientific information. He offers to bet that I cannot read, speak, or write Esperanto, for if I could, he says, I would be an enthusiast for it.

I pass his bet. I have looked Esperanto over, but have not swallowed it. However, I am quite willing to quote what he says in its favor; this for instance: "I am receiving every day letters and publications from all parts of the world, written wholly in Esperanto, and entirely understandable, and expressing every phase of thought more clearly and definitely than could be done in any other language. I must be allowed to refer to common sense for judgment.

"Every phase of thought" is a very bold phrase, which does not indicate, as here used, any evident appreciation of scientific exactness. I am afraid that the best linguists would pass it by with a smile. Will anybody but an enthusiast believe that Esperanto is more expressive and richer in the power to represent thought than Greek or Latin, or English, French, German, Italian—to mention but a few of the great languages that humanity has produced by thousands of years of incessant striving to obtain competent expression for its reasonings, its emotions, and its beliefs."

As to Esperanto being made up, as it affirmed, "from a mixed-up piecea of other (real) languages," my objector replies that "only roots are taken into Esperanto from other languages, and these the roots in most common use."

But that seems to me to be only a different way of saying exactly what I said. In fact, Esperanto has no "roots" of its own; it only has its own way of manhandling the roots that it takes by wholesale from authentic languages. A genuine language, by its very origin, is a source of knowledge; it contributes to the mental store of mankind. But Esperanto brings no such contribution; it has nothing that it can call its own.

In learning Esperanto you are merely acquiring a patchwork of pieces cut from real languages, sewed together by machine, and filled out with suffixes and prefixes (all of similar origin), as may be seen by the following statement.

"There is a word for every possible purpose in Esperanto, and words exceeding the finest shades of thought may be created at will by the use of prefixes and suffixes. No other language has this quality."

And this:

"Esperanto is not intended to supplant any language, but to afford a common medium between them."

But since Esperanto only exists by virtue of the languages from which it derives its roots and its grammatical basis, why, if they are not to be supplanted, learn Esperanto at all? If you already know the mother languages you do not need to study Esperanto.

If you tackle Esperanto without any knowledge of the languages from which it is made up then you have to learn the meaning of those roots from the start. That is not any easy job, as anybody having no more than a smattering of Latin and Greek will find out, notwithstanding the confident statement of my enthusiastic Esperantist friend.

"The average man, scientist or layman, could learn Esperanto in six week's intensive study."

Very well, let anybody ignorant of Latin and Greek roots try to learn Esperano in sig weeks!

I have no objection to Esperanto, except that I think that the time used in acquiring it could be better employed in acquiring the naturel-born languages for which it is supposed to afford "a common medium." I do not stand with the humanizers of science who would even go so far as to straitjacket it with a machine-made language.

ONCE-OVERS

ARE YOU CHARITABLE FROM THE HEART OR FOR THE SAKE OF SHOW?

Without quibbling or exaggeration, is there any true value to you? Isn't there a whole lot of sham about you?

Knowing yourself as no one else can, do you deserve as much respect as most folk have for you?

Have you faith in your own theories, and is there a true foundation back of your utterances which you would have others believe?

Isn't it true that you often feel ashamed that you are so far from what you pretend to be?

It would be a lot of satisfaction to you if you could be as good as those whom you admire think you to be, would it not?

You donate to a church and to good causes as they are presented to you. You do take an interest in the unfortunate and conduct yourself as a law-abiding citizen should, but is not that about all that could be said for you?

Back of your appearance of being charitable and good is there anything more than a desire to appear well before your fellow-men or to please your own vanity?

Sometimes you get disgusted with your own shallowness, do you not, and wish you were the kernal, not husk?
